Eddie Arcaro's Rough Riding Illustrates One Of Great Evils On Turf

EDDIE ARCARO is among the more prominent riders of the day and so has been for some seasons past. While never topping the list as regards number of races won, he has as a rule been well up with the leader, while as a "big money" jockey his record is still more exceptional and last season (1940) he stood at the top in this regard, his mounts earning $343,661, J. Longden standing second with a credit of $321,552.

Arcaro—who, as his name implies, is of Italian ancestry—is considered a very "strong" rider, is now twenty-six and being of larger frame than many of the pigskin exponents, cannot make the weight to ride against the light-weights, but is kept busy in events for the better class horses. At various times he has been contract rider for various prominent stables and this season is officially that of the Greentree stable of Mrs. Payne Whitney.

A few years back he occupied this position with the Calumet Farm Stable of Mr. Warren Wright, but his work being uneven and in a sense disappointing, he was released from his contract and went else-

Three-Day Campaign Makes Highland Ace Harford Champion

BY HELEN CADWALADER

Defeating his veteran stablemates and piling up a sizable point lead over several other stalwart competitors, Highland Ace, Springsbury Farms 5-year-old bay gelding, sailed homeward on August 28 after three days of campaigning at Bel Air, Md., with the championship ribbon for his proud owners, Mr. and Mrs. George P. Greenhalgh.

Miss Eleanor Moffett's chestnut mare, Candolette, was the runner-up, with a total of 14 1-2 points to Highland Ace's 20. She trounced Billy Do, who recorded only eight points, even though that good jumper had placed second in the preliminaries to Candolette's third. Springsbury's Big Boy, who took the championship last year at this show in easy style, retired with eleven points to his credit, after performances which to many spectators seemed to lack the steadiness and superb manners he had displayed in 1940.

Empire State Show Hunter Award Made To Oration II

Sports Parade Outstanding In Open Jumping For Frederick von Lambeck

BY NEVA MINTON

The Empire State Fair Horse Show August 28 through 30th was again held in the infield of the combined trotting and automobile track of the state exposition in Syracuse, N. Y. Added attractions within the inside rail included everything from tight rope exhibitions and draft horse pulling competitions to parading brass bands and a United States Army mobile unit demonstration in which trees were demolished by the tanks. The latter attraction regularly laid a soupy fog of dust over all proceedings. On other parts of the grounds there was every type of livestock exhibition, an elaborate midway and right on down the line to the standby of all fair grounds, the spun sugar or apple on the sticks and the resultingly soiled youngsters.

In the least occupied corner of the infield was a nicely placed showing ring from which there was a circular outside course around a lagoon harboring several white ducks and swan. Neither the ducks or the nine wingless fences which composed the course would appear to the spectator to cause as much worry as the turf which had unfortunately baked to a concrete like consistency. This did not seem to bother the few consistent horses who were still performing well Saturday afternoon when the $200 hunter stake was held in the ring. This was necessary when during a spectacular jumping class

Hunter Champion Awarded Camp At Smithtown

Brian Boru, Demas And Bourbon Lad Vie For Honors In Well Filled Classes

BY PROCTOR KNOTT

Well-filled hunter classes were the feature of the 32nd annual Smithtown Show held on August 13, the second of three Long Island shows which follow each other in August. Many of the same exhibitors who showed here had taken their horses to East Hampton last week, and will round out with the Helping Hand benefit show next Saturday.

Again it was Mrs. Norman K. Toerge's brown gelding Camp who was named hunter champion, overcoming the early lead of Harvey D. Gibson's veteran campaigner Brian Boru. This gave Camp the championship at Smithtown three years in succession, and thus he retired the handsome Fallow Field Challenge Trophy, representative of top honors.

It looked as if the judges had their hardest time reaching a decision in the model hunter class, where Mr. and Mrs. Martin Vogel's Demas put up real competition, and Brian Boru vied closely with Adrian Larkin's Endeavorer, in which order the ribbons were finally pinned.

Brian Boru and Bourbon Lad, who placed second and third in the hunter preliminary, were deadlocked for reserve honors with 16 1-2 points each, until it was broken by the judges giving the award to Brian Boru.

Demas came through in the middleweight hunter class, piloted by Miss Elizabeth Hyland, and defeated Miss Jacquelyn Galway's five-year

CORNISH HILLS CHAMPION AT WARRENTON

Mr. and Mrs. Perry's Pressed Closely By The Harrisons' Alas

If there had been a mutual system of picking the favorite at the 42nd annual Warrenton Horse Show, held last Saturday, August 30 and Monday, Sept. 1, surely Mr. and Mrs. W. Haggin Perry's Cornish Hill, a delightful conformation hunter, whose past performances include some half dozen tricolors this season, would have been a 1 to 5 shot. The predicted occurred, but Cornish Hills did not climb to his double championship rung of the "Hunter Show of America", to his greatest laurels, without first giving his backers anxiety and concern. He won the working division over Spring Hope, and he was closely pressed throughout by Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Harrison Jr.'s Upperville Horse Show champion Alas, who was finally pinned conformation reserve, with 13 1-2 points to Cornish Hills' 16.

This year's Warrenton renewal was possibly the greatest show in recent years, both from standpoint of attendance and the class of entries. The able committee was headed by a hunter dealing horse show man himself, J. North Fletcher, whose eye for a young one is well known and so keen that his 3-year-old Pappy became the cynosure of all eyes as judges Thomas C. Assheton, of Port Chester, N. Y., George M. Humphrey, of Cleveland, O., and Christopher Wadsworth, of Kenmore, N. Y., were unanimous in the selection of this son of Red Bug—Mildred C. for

Austin Brown's Foxyanne Wins At Castle Park

BY BERT DOLAN

Either the people of Castle Park, Michigan "live right" or else they have an "in" with the weather man because Wednesday, August 27th, the day of the nineteenth annual Holland-Castle Park Horse Show, was perfect. The brilliant blue sky, the bright sun, and the cool wind off nearby Lake Michigan brought out a record attendance of over 2000 spectators. The seventy five horses and their amateur riders from Michigan, Wisconsin, Illinois and Missouri responded to the faultless weather and the large crowd with a series of thrilling performances that won loud applause from the audience.

Dutchess County Plays Host At Annual Rhinebeck Horse Show On August 26-27

BY M. O'MALLEY KNOTT

The Rhinebeck Horse Show is unique in that it has a committee from three distinct localities, all acting as hosts and hostesses to the exhibitors and many friends of the show, August 26 and 27. There is Alfred B. Maclay, Victor J. McQuade, and John Donaldson from the Millbrook country; the popular president, Homer B. Gray, M. F. H., who works so hard before, during and after the show, (the smallest detail is not too much trouble for Homer); then George D. Campbell, J. Adams Brown, Malcolm R. Graham and that good rider John M. Melville from the Rombout country; then from Rhinebeck and the lovely old homes along the Hudson: Mrs. William H. Osborn, Mrs. Lyman Delano, Mrs. Deborah Dows, Senator Allen A. Ryan, Lydig Hoyt, Dr. Charles R. Eno and William Plass. No wonder this show is such a success and so popular with exhibitors.

The judges played no small part. Mrs. William C. Cox, from Cohasset, has the distinction of being the only American woman who has judged at

Harriers Feature 25th Bryn Mawr Hound Show

Harriers, classes for which were introduced into the Bryn Mawr Hound Show only several years ago, will be quite prominent in this year's show. The 25th Annual Bryn Mawr Hound Show will be held on September 13 at the Radnor Hunt Club, near Paoli, Pa.

Harriers were previously shown at Bryn Mawr without distinction between American and English types.

Harriers resemble foxhounds but are somewhat smaller. They are kept for hunting hares and are followed on horseback. They have been very popular in England.

The Monmouth County Hunt, which hunts near Red Bank, N. J., has already made entries of which Amory L. Haskell is Master. Mill Creek Hunt's Remus, from Illinois, nosed out Monmouth's Hammack last year for the championship. Hammock, By Clifton Foot Coroner out of Rockwood Harmony, is coming for another try.

The Nantucket Harriers, which chase the hare over the Nantucket Island moors, with Mrs. Rebecca Lanier Trimp as master, and the Whiteoaks Foot Beagles' of Bedminster, N. J., Edward W. Lucas master, will however, have entries.

Mrs. Andrew W. Porter, of Chester Springs, Pa., has made entries, Mrs. Alfred E. Bissell of Wilmington, Del., (Stockford Bassets), Mrs. Lewis S. Thompson, of Red Bank, N. J., (Brookdale Bassets), and Miss Mary Mather, of West Chester, Pa., (Brandywine Bassets) will also contend.

Huntsman, Professional And Amateur

Amateurs Have Played Important Role Hunting Hounds In England As Well As In America

By A. Henry Higginson, M. F. H.

To-day, when many of the best packs in England and elsewhere are hunted by amateurs, it may seem strange that Peter Beckford, who, although he died a hundred and thirty years ago, still remains the greatest authority on foxhunting, neither hunted his own hounds nor had any desire to do so. In the opening chapter of "THOUGHTS ON HUNTING", he says:—"You will say, perhaps, there is something too laborious in the occupation of a Huntsman for a gentleman to take it upon himself; you may also think it is beneath him; I agree with you in both.

As far as I can gather, there were very few, if any, amateur Huntsmen in those days; or for that matter, for several years after the "THOUGHTS" had been written. Hugo Meynell, to whom Beckford evidently looked up as being a great breeder, and a great exponent of foxhunting, did not hunt hounds; but he certainly practiced Beckford's recommendation that it was necessary that he understand it in all its branches. It must be remembered that the hunting of a pack of hounds, in Beckford's day, entailed far more physical labour than that which falls to the lot of most amateur Huntsmen to-day; no motors to take them to their meets in the morning and home again at night, after a hard day's work, for them; but a long, cold hack, in the chill of the evening, after the day's sport was over. Horses were not ever really fit in those days, and there must have been many times when hounds and Hunt servants reached the kennels long after dark.

As time went on, however, Masters began to find out the pleasure to be derived from hunting hounds they had bred themselves, and more tried their hands at the game. There probably were many of whom we have never heard who found the task too arduous and gave it up, for one reason or another; but there were notable exceptions—both Tom Smiths, Grantley Berkeley, John Ward and Squire Osbaldeston, to name a few—although the latter was said to be a shocking performer. It would be quite impossible for me to give a detailed list of all the famous amateur Huntsmen of the last half century; but to-day—or rather before the outbreak of war, when the last statistics were published—60 percent of the packs in England were hunted by amateurs. In America, to my astonishment, I find the balance is exactly the other way; for there are rather over 60 percent of professionals employed. Of course, the growth of foxhunting in America has been tremendous in the last quarter of a century, and I suppose the fact that there are many Masters who have neither the time nor the inclination to take on the arduous duties which the successful hunting of a pack entails, has a good deal to do with it. When I was a boy in America, very few of my mates were seriously interested in hound breeding. A few of them had done a little drag hunting, but none of them knew anything about foxhunting; and the idea that any of us might ever seriously take it up never entered our heads. But then, I was a New Englander, and of course the above statement would not have been true of the small boys of the Southern States. There, on the other hand, everyone hunted, though, in the '90s there were very few recognized packs, and organized hunting, as we know it to-day, was very little practiced. Be that as it may, it is an unquestioned fact that the amateur Huntsman plays a much more important part in foxhunting to-day than he did fifty years ago.

And why not? If a man has the time and inclination, why should not the amateur Huntsman be as good, or better, than the professional? If education is worth anything, surely it teaches us to apply our natural talents. It seems to me that IF an amateur chooses to devote as much time and study to becoming proficient in the art of hunting a pack of hounds as a professional, he ought to become at least the equal of the best professional, for the proper application of those qualities which are supposed to be brought out by a College education, ought to put him in the front rank. In other branches of sport—such as steeplechase riding, yachting, polo playing, etc.—the best amateurs are the equals if not the superiors, of the professionals; VIDE, such men as Pete Bostwick, Harold Vanderbilt, and Tom Hitchcock (Junior). However, this is not the place, nor have I the time to take up a discussion relative to the merits and demerits of amateur and professional Huntsmen; I merely wanted to point out that the hunting world is far better off to-day in having so many capable amateurs, and to say a few words about some of the great ones I have known both in England and America.

No man can write about amateur Huntsmen without mention of that finest of all British amateurs of forty years ago, the late Duke of Beaufort. At the time when it was my good fortune to hunt behind him he had been hunting the Badminton country for forty-six seasons, and as a horseman he was very heavy and past his prime. Beckford has said that a Huntsman should be young, but unfortunately there is no way of remaining young, and I don't think that he would deny that wisdom comes with age, and certainly His Grace was well able to reap the rewards of his experience. His knowledge of the run of a fox was extraordinary and his hounds knew it and were never deceived. The present Duke is following in his father's footsteps and is rated to-day among the best of the amateurs in England.

Among the best amateur Huntsmen during the early part of the present century was Charles F. P. McNeill, who first at the North Cotswold and later at the Grafton,—the latter one of the biggest countries to ride over in England,—showed brilliant sport to hard-riding Fields. I had a day with him in the Grafton country in 1912, and the mask of a fox he killed after a very good fifty minutes hangs in my hall. He was a big man, and he rode big horses over big fences in the most finished manner, stopping for nothing, turning aside for nothing, and always at the tail of his hounds. He told me that when he was young he had hunted a great deal with Tom Firr, whom the late Otho Paget called the most brilliant Huntsman of the century, and I think that, all things considered, he was the QUICKEST Huntsman that I ever hunted with.

"Parson" Milne, with whom I had the honour to serve as Joint Master for a season before I took the Cattistock on my own, was well past his heyday when I hunted with him, but he, like the late Duke of Beaufort, possessed a wonderful knowledge of the run of a fox in his own country, which is, of course, a tremendous advantage. I have always wished that I had seen Mr. Milne in his early days, for old farmers in the Cattistock country tell me that he was hard to beat at that time; but none of us can last forever, and when I remember that he was well past three-score-years-and-ten at the time he gave up hunting hounds, I feel that I must include him among the best of the amateurs.

Another man whom I never saw in his younger days was the famous "Teddy" Currie (Sir Edward Currie, as I knew him) who at the age of seventy-four, hunted his famous white pack over as rough a piece of country as any in England, and killed his foxes into the bargain. There are many men in England to-day of the younger generation with whom I have not hunted.—Mr. C. Hilton Green of the Cottesmore and Captain Paget of the North Atherstone, among others—and both of them, I am told, are in the front rank as amateur Huntsmen. There is one man, however, who, though he is now retired from active hunting, stands very high on the list of Masters who have carried the horn successfully during recent years, and I am proud to say that although he has lived in England for many years, still boasts his American citizenship. Isaac Bell is known to all hunting men as an outstanding amateur Huntsman. American-born, he came over to Ireland when he was very young and learned his trade in the Emerald Isle, where his fame is talked about as Master of the "Galway Blazers" and later of the Kilkenny. Coming to England, he took over the South and West Wilts, when that pack was at a very low ebb, and by skilful judgement and clever handling in the field,

Pompey Continues To Lead Eastern Sired Winners

The conclusion of August racing was brought about by rich Labor Day week end purses. A survey of the racing from August 27 through Sept. 2, shows increased Eastern-bred activity, with winners numbering 99.

For the third consecutive week Pompey retains the honor of producing the greatest number of winners, numbering 6. This left Quatre Bras II, Happy Argo and Westwick close with 5 each. Although Caruso had but 2 winners, these accounted for purses aggregating $10,010. Again it was that splendid performing daughter of Caruso, Imperatrice, who helped her sire take the lead by virtue of her victory in the New England Oaks at Narragansett.

Eastern-breds won $74,220 during this interval, in 1st monies, and instead of the usual 3 or 4 states, there were 7 contributing. Sun God II, standing in New Hampshire and Peanuts in New York had 1 winner each and Grandace, in Massachusetts and Mud in Pennsylvania had 2 each. The 59 Virginia-breds won $42,000; 17 Maryland-breds won $11,015 and 15 New Jersey-breds $17,680.

Aug. 27—At Saratoga 5 out of 7 races went to progeny sired east of the Alleghenies. G. D. Widener's Birch Rod rang up his 2nd straight win and again it was by a nose. A small field of 4 went to the post in the Class C, 'cap, 4 and up and there seemed little doubt that Golden Voyage had the race "in the bag" away from Grey Wolf, the nearest rival. However, the final stretch made it another story when the light bay son of Pompey came up on the outside and took matters into his hands. The 39th running of the Adirondack Handicap again brought together a group of the best 2-year-old fillies of the year and offered a purse of $4,500. Although Romping Home won the Schuylerville at the expense of Mar-Kell and was unplaced in the Spinaway, the gallant daughter of Espino met and overcame strong opposition today.

Aug. 28—Mrs. Ella K. Bryson's Saguenay II proved his allegiance as he flashed her red, white and blue colors past the judges stand in the King Hanover Claiming Handicap at Saratoga. The 4-year-old son of Aethelstan II has made marked improvement and it was merely a matter of circling the track. J. B. Royston's Glitter Girl won her last race at Hagerstown and has just missed being in the winner's circle several times since. The feature National Horsemen's Guild Purse proved to be a break in a bad streak as the Lucullite filly won by a nose.

Aug. 29—Only 5 went to the post at Saratoga in the 2-year-old (lady owners) handicap, $1,200 added. Mrs. F. C. Rompel's Park Bench came home to win. The son of Jack High snatched his winning position by a head. Prince of Wales' 7-year-old son Welsh Lad chalked up his 9th win of the year at Wheeling Downs in a close finish with Allencaid, also an Eastern-bred. Welsh Lad began his 1941 racing in Feb-

Aug. 30—In their first meeting since last September at Aqueduct when Imperatrice won her 1st victory at the expense of War Hazard, again the Caruso filly showed her heels to the Glen Riddle Farm entry in the New England Oaks at Narragansett. W. H. LaBoyteaux's color-bearer garnered her last victory in the Test Stakes at Saratoga. War Hazard was an important factor over the distance of 1 1-16 mi., and Imperatrice has shown preference to a shorter track but this versatile lass held her own when she went to the front at the start and battled with War Hazard in the stretch.

Sept. 1—The feature Aqueduct Handicap supplied a big upset for the favorite Foxbrough who has won purses this season amounting to $38,600 which is far more than his rivals with the exception of Market Wise. Without reckoning with Ponty, Foxbrough without a doubt would have added $7,900 to the Belair Stud coffers but the 3-year-old son of Pilate raked in his 1st stake winnings. Carrying light-weight of 105, Mrs. F. Scully's colt moved on by the leaders and as Foxbrough moved up on the outside, Ponty responded to pressure. The Labor Day Purse at Timonium again fell victim to the untiring efforts of Sun Meadow's 6-year-old daughter carrying the colors of Capt. Ewart Johnston. In her own characteristic way, Royal Business left the setting of the pace to her rivals.

Sept. 2—Strolling Player's Ball Player came a long way from his former plater ranks, when he romped at Aqueduct for his 3rd straight, winning The Demask, feature for 3-year-olds. Paperboy was the public's choice, having finished 2nd to the Big Pebble in the Hollywood Gold Cup. But Ball Player was 1 1-2 lengths on top at the 1-4 and he was never headed.—The new "about 2 mi." steeplechase course at Aqueduct had George H. (Pete) Bostwick's West Haddon, a Neddie son, returning the winner of The Sea Skipper. 1st race run over the new 13 jump layout, clocked in 3:53.

Cornish Hills Adds New Championship To His Career

Orange Show Draws Top Hunters And Jumpers To Compete In Green Hunters

The 42nd annual Orange Horseman's Association Horse Show held August 25 and 26 provided the scene for the continuation of the Cornish Hills—The Bear duel despite the commendable performances of other horses.

The weather was perfect for the first day of the show and the attendance was good. The model class in which the "Pair" met for the beginning was a victory for Cornish Hills as The Bear was awarded the red ribbon. Before the end of the day, Mr. and Mrs. W. Haggin Perry's Cornish Hills had captured 3 more blues in the green hunters, lightweight, ladies' and green hunters under saddle. Meantime Mrs. M. E. Whitney's The Bear was giving a much improved performance over his Saturday showing and accounted for the blue in the middle and heavy-weight and red in hunter hacks.

Cornish Hills proved his ability as a champion the 2nd day. His first jumping class was under entirely different conditions as the clear skies of the morning clouded up and a terrific downpour and electrical storm followed so that the program was held up. The afternoon entries were forced to compete over muddy, slippery ground. The unhurried, consistent way of going enabled Cornish Hills to continue his good performances and thereby place 1st in the thoroughbred hunters, green hunter stake, green hunter championship and hunter championship preliminaries and 2nd in the corinthian.

Although Cornish Hills won a number of outstanding awards the last season, American Horse Show Assn., still classifies him a green hunter. In the events designated to determine the green hunter champion, the Perrys' hunter was easily outstanding as he garnered 4 blues to gain the lead over J. North Fletcher's 3-year-old colt, Pappy.

The Bear's performance in the working hunters was really worthy of credit since the show does not have an outside course and the event took place in the ring. To put it mildly, the class was unique. The conditions read: "To be shown over 10 jumps not exceeding 4'-0" including an in-and-out. Horses will be shown 2 at a time in tandem formation. Pairing to be done by drawing. Horses to change order between the 5th and 6th fences." The riders were also instructed that should the leading horse knock down a fence, the 2nd horse should wait until the fence was fixed. As the class progressed, it became apparent that the well-schooled Trail Bird, owned and ridden by Capt. J. G. Minniece, Jr., would be the winner. He was forced to wait at 2 different jumps which the preceeding horse had knocked down, during which time he was extremely quiet and calmly resumed his former pace. The Bear was awarded 2nd and Meander Farm's Cunning Fox was 3rd.

When Roydesal was purchased last September from Manley Carter his future home was to be where his tack was hung up. He was hunted with Virginia packs, shown in Camden, came back to Virginia and was hacked about over the country side, thence to Nantucket where he hunted with the Nantucket Harriers. Despite his traveling and various activities, the 8-year-old son of Royal Canopy—Deceitful Sally returned to the Old Dominion in splendid shape and going nicely. His owner, Miss Crystelle Waggoner, who hails from Texas, is a new-comer to the Virginia horse show circuit and to date her hunter has not disappointed her in his performances. He not only enters open jumping but also competes in the conformation classes. Under the able management of Alex Calvert, Roydesal jumped well in the limit jumpers and left behind well-known open jumpers who have been successful this season. His outstanding event was the corinthian. As the footing became worse and several horses slipped into the jumps, Roydesal's ability to jump wherever his rider directed gave him the advantage of being able to follow close to the outside wing and thus avoid the deep track. Cornish Hills had to be content with 2nd.

Newton Mayo, agent for Miss Peggy Sampson, has a 3 to 1 chance against any entries in open jumping. Hi-Ho Silver trots to the big fences, Black Boy goes at a slow canter and if they fail, Hellzapoppin comes literally flying into the ring. The grey combination of Hi-Ho Silver and Black Boy is well known around shows but even the owner didn't realize what a jumper the 5-year-old mare by Canadian Ensign—Zaza was. Hellzapoppin enjoyed a not very lucrative racing career as a 2 and 3-year-old and last season she was schooled over brush and hurdles. Early this spring she was brought into the stable and trimmed up for a try in the ring. At Huntington W. Va., she won several hunter classes but her place seems to be where the jumps are highest.

The skyscraper got off to a thundering start as the sky was still dark and occasional flashes of lightning were seen. The 6 entries turned in clean performances at 4'-6" but Mrs. Whitney's First Night was out at 5'-0" and Peggy Sampson's Black Boy was left by the wayside at 5'-6". When the jump went up to 6'-0", Hellzapoppin cleared the first fence, which was always half a foot lower than the 2nd one, but her action at the 6 footer was described by some as a refusal and others said she slipped and was trying to regain her footing. At any rate, she ended up by sliding into the obstacle and when Newton Mayo straightened her out again, she cleared the jump with a slight tick and was praised by resounding applause. All the others failed.

Reserve to Hellzapoppin, the jumper champion, was the 15 hand gray mare owned and ridden by Mrs. Polly Stokes. With only a 3rd ribbon in the limit jumpers to her credit, Freckles seemed determined to redeem herself in the jumper stakes. In her usual fast manner she galloped to the jumps and took off so far back that by the time she had completed the 7 jumps and the in-and-out, the spectators were in a state of collapse. The performance of this game little mare could not be matched.

Thoroughbreds By Salvator

where. After seeming to be in a sort of slump for a season or two he took a new upward climb which, as aforesaid, brought him to the top of the money-winning list for 1940.

While, when he and Mr. Wright parted company it was said that their relations were somewhat strained, since then the latter has taken on a new trainer in the person of the very successful Ben Jones, of Missouri, so that when the question of a jockey for Whirlaway this season in the 3-year-old "classics" became a momentous one, on account of that colt's trick of running out at the home turn, he was turned to.

Wendell Eads, the present Calumet contract rider, seemed unable to keep the son of Blenheim II straight and it was deemed unwise to give him the mount in the Kentucky Derby, Preakness, Belmont, etc., a stronger boy being deemed necessary.

Arcaro was the best available piece of timber, as the Greentree team had nothing that looked good for the classics. As said, he was taken on and proved an excellent choice as he not only kept the colt straight but won the American "Triple Crown" with him. This giving him a very reverberant reclame.

One of its effects was to also give him what appears to have been an acute case of elephantiasis, or, in the vernacular, "swelled head". In the past he had shown symptoms of this and been, so it was gossiped, recalcitrant under control. Now he got quite out of hand and began to indulge in rough riding that was conspicuous—while, to be precise, he had shown similar tendencies in the past.

Apparently he thought he could, as the phrase goes, "get away with anything short of murder"—but the getting away came to a sudden stop on July 19, at the Empire City meeting, when he was set down for thirty days for his behavior.

Such a lesson, one would think, should have been salutary. But not so.

Back in the saddle only about a week and Arcaro was given the mount upon Shut Out, of the Greentree forces, in the Hopeful Stakes at Saratoga, one of the year's principal 2-year-old events. This colt ran coupled with two others, all trained by J. M. Gaver, namely, Greentree's Devil Diver and Manhasset Stable's Amphitheatre. The triple entry ran one-two-three, Devil Diver winning, Shut Out second, but the riding of Arcaro upon the latter colt was so flagrantly unfair that the Saratoga stewards at once set him down again temporarily and his case was referred to the stewards of The Jockey Club, the high court of appeals in such matters, for farther action. Which, it is believed, will be drastic.

Attention is called to the affair because of its illustration of one of the greatest evils of the time upon the American turf. This being:—

The rough-riding that has come to be a common-place of the sport and the lack of control of the jockeys which allows them to carry on in a manner which is little short of shocking; while, when punishment comes, it seems to have but small effect upon their deportment.

Until this condition is rectified, the American turf will continue to labor under a stigma that is as unnecessary as it is undesirable.

Coming Events

Foxcatcher Meeting

The program of races September 6th, to be featured by the Foxcatcher National Cup Steeplechase, one of the notable American 'chasing events, again will consist of four races with the first scheduled for 2:45 P. M. Eastern Standard Time, (3:45 P. M. daylight saving time). The National Cup will be third race on the card. Again it will be 3 miles over a Grand National brush course.

The opening event will be the Fair Hill steeplechase at about 2 miles over a brush course. Second will be the Big Elk flat race, on the turf at a mile and 7 furlongs. The 4th is the Lewisville flat race, at 7 furlongs on the turf. The race program is run in conjunction with the Cecil County Breeders' Fair, which is a two day carnival beginning on Friday, September 5th.

An interesting additional feature, which will precede the running off of the races, will be the sale of the hunters of Miss Deborah G. Rood.

Hunter Trial

Members of the Maryland Horse Shows Association, Inc., have recently announced plans for a series of eight hunter trials to be held at Pleasant Valley Farm, the estate of Harvey F. Ladew, near Monkton, Harford County, on Sunday, October 19.

The affair will be an all-day one, beginning at 10 a. m., and will include the holding of the finals of the D. Sterett Gittings Horsemanship Class and awarding of the trophy by Mr. Gittings himself, to the rider of seventeen years or less adjudged the winner. This class is a feature at all member shows during the season, and the child winning the blue at each individual show is eligible for this final competition.

The hunter trials will be two mile and up events over the brush and timber course in the pretty valley lying just below Mr. Ladew's lawn. Although details have not been worked out yet, it is understood that there will be a ladies' race and perhaps a pair event. Horsemen from Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Washington and Virginia will be specially invited, and urged to enter the competition.

Committeemen active in planning this field day are: Dean Bedford, chairman; Mrs. Bedford, Mrs. W. Graham Boyce; and Henry A. Dentry, Humphrey S. Finney, Hugo R. Hoffman and D. Sterett Gittings. Communications should be addressed to Mr. Hoffman, in the Court Square Building, Baltimore.

Westmoreland Show

The eighteenth annual Westmoreland Hunt Horse Show at Greensburg, Pennsylvania on Saturday, September 13th closes entries on September 2nd. Torenice Miller is chairman. Mr. Miller is a keen fox-hunter and annually journeys down to Virginia and goes out with the Virginia packs on a regular hunting tour. The show is an all hunter one with 25 classes and includes some seat and hands classes for children as well as yearling, two-year-old and broodmare classes.

Members of the committee include E. C. Bothwell, noted breeder of Cleveland bays in that section of Pennsylvania, R. K. Mellon and W. C. Robinson, Jr., M. F. Hs, respectively of Rolling Rock and Sewickley. Mr. Robinson has made a great thing of the Sewickley Show and this last year put on one of the best of the early summer shows. Mr. Mellon's Rolling Rock course is completing its face lifting operations and

Troop Captures Huntingdon Show Hunter Award

BY GEORGE P. GABLE

The Huntingdon (Pa.) Show August 25-26 fairly shouted hospitality, but that is to be expected as the prime mover of the show, Jimmie Morgan, who hails from the south, couldn't help but conduct a show in such a way.

Jimmie's hospitality tent was a popular place; in fact, a couple of years ago at one of these shows, a heavy rainstorm brought the tent down and almost drowned some of the most prominent horsemen of the east. Jimmie has chicken suppers and picnics, and everything he can to make the exhibitors happy.

Huntingdon had an outstanding show for a small County Fair. There were 92 entries of exceedingly high quality horses. All of the classes were well filled and the competition was keen.

Splendid judging was done by Jack T. Carpenter of Greenwood, Virginia, who judged hunters' and jumpers' classes, and Dr. Henry A. Bonyne of Ridgewood, New Jersey, who judged the saddle horses and ponies. These men judged alone and the exhibitors were entirely pleased and satisfied with their decisions.

Dr. Hutchison's Grey Devil won the model light weight hunters and won consistently throughout the show.

In the 3rd class, U. S. Randle's Troop won the model, medium, and heavy weight hunters class and placed consistently throughout the show to go on to the championship.

There was a heavy downpour of rain before the show started and a heavy downpour of rain the last evening. Other than that, the weather was fine and the show was generally delightful.

The neighboring Frankstown Hunt did quite well in all the classes they were showing; in fact, in the working hunter class, where they had 24 entries, Frankstown hunters won 2nd and 3rd.

Otis R. Dodson's Reagent, that peculiarly marked chestnut with the white patches, attracted a great deal of favorable comment and, placed 1st and 2nd in a number of classes. It was interesting to see Reagent and Dr. Austin C. Lynn's Grey Bubbles competing as they were both developed by Otis R. Dodson. Grey Bubbles is a horse of great quality and won a 4th at the Devon Show. Reagent is a younger horse and needs more training, but should certainly become one of the top horses in this country.

The saddle classes were well filled this fall meeting should provide one of the great courses in the country, for its 2 day meeting on October 8th and 11th.

Maryland Futurity

Three sires standing in Maryland are tied for the honor of having the most representatives eligible for the Maryland Futurity at Laurel on Oct. 11. They are Discovery, imp. Aethelstan and imp. Kantar, each of these having 17 two-year-olds on the Futurity list.

Two of the outstanding candidates for the Maryland Futurity on Oct. 11 are fillies. They are Alfred Vanderbilt's Petrify and Mrs. R. H. Helghe's Pony Ballet, both stakes winners.

Harrisburg Changes

E. B. Mitchell, secy., of the Harrisburg Horse Show, advises that the date originally selected has been changed that the show will go on the last week-end of October, for three days, the 30-31 and Nov. 1.

ed also and it was an interesting thing to note that throughout the show Jeango Farms Nawbeek Nancy consistently placed over R. R. King's Ritz Mike, but when they came to the championship, due to the heavy mud and heavy going, King's horse won. He is the better mudder and a great horse.

One of the unusual classes for this show was a class which Miss Evelyn Thompson, of the Chestnut Ridge Hunt, originated in 1938. It is the GO AS YOU LIKE CLASS for handy hunters. Miss Evelyn Thompson was in this class competing with her Castleman but the class was won by Stormy Weather.

Carl Davis' famous Eagle Mist had an outstanding performance in the hunters other than thoroughbreds. He is a great horse from every angle. He is a splendid conformation horse and can do everything, hunt, jump, they drive him single and in tandem, and even work him on the farm. He is certainly one of the most all around horses in the State. In this class, which Eagle Mist won, there were sixteen entries.

A very unusual class for this part of the country was the Tennessee walking class. Mr. William Wrigley of Clearfield, of five gaited saddle horse fame, had three entries. Bill Wrigley is pioneering the Tennessee walking horse in this part of the country, and he won 1st, 3rd, and 4th. Bill is not quite as fat as Paul Whiteman, but if he continues to ride these easy going horses, he may get fat.

One of the encouraging things about this show was the large class of Huntingdon County beginners—children who had just started to ride within the last six months. There were 11 in this class. It looks as though the young riders are coming along in fine style in Huntingdon.

Another feature of the show was the exhibition of the Dressage by Captain Wm. Heyer.

The ring and show was capably handled by R. Blair Stewart, who is a splendid Ring Master, and Martin H. Heine, who handled the ring.

Champion Hunter On The Beam At Mexico Show

By MARY

On the Beam won the championship for hunters at the Mexico, Missouri Horse Show, held this year August 12-14. He was 4 points ahead of the reserve champion Grasslands, who also won the hunter stake. On the Beam, owned by Beverly Von Hoffmann was exhibited by Scarborough Stable and ridden by Margaret Kerckhoff. Grasslands, the well-known campaigner around the middle-west had his best performance in the stake. This consistent half-bred is owned by William Rowan of St. Louis, shown by George Manley and ridden by Tommy Allen. On the Beam won the model class, beating Bucksaulz, a nice chestnut 4-year-old owned by Robert Otto, also of St. Louis, who was second.

In the ladies hunter, On the Beam chalked up more points toward the championship by winning 1st. Second prize went to Pretty Pass, a brown gelding, owned by Mrs. Roy Craft of Kansas City. Pretty Pass and Will Rogers took the pair class, 2nd going to Watch Janina and Grasslands, 3rd to Bucksaulz and On the Beam.

To Walter Staley goes a great deal of credit not only for laying out the very difficult courses and running a splendid show, but for securing as judge the services of the distinguished horseman General Harry D. Chamberlin.

The handy hunter class was shown on the infield over another tricky and difficult course. Flyrock was 1st, owned by Arthur D. Bond of Mexico, Grasslands was 2nd, and On the Beam 3rd. Conformation was not considered in this class.

In the green hunter class Joe Mackey's War General took the blue, with Pretty Pass, 2nd, and Scarborough Stables' Daddy Bill, 3rd.

In the open jumper, Trail's End Stables' Feather Rock went fault-

RIBBON WINNERS AT CASTLE PARK, MICH., HORSE SHOW

Austin Brown, honorary whip of the Tryon Hounds at Tryon, N. C., got the big hand of the day when he swept home on his little mare FOXYANNE to win the blue, in the hunter class over the big, well fenced outside course. This was the last event on the program at the Holland-Castle Park Horse Show at Castle Park, Mich. on Wed., Aug. 27 and was a fine climax to a great day of sport. ----Bert Dolan Photo

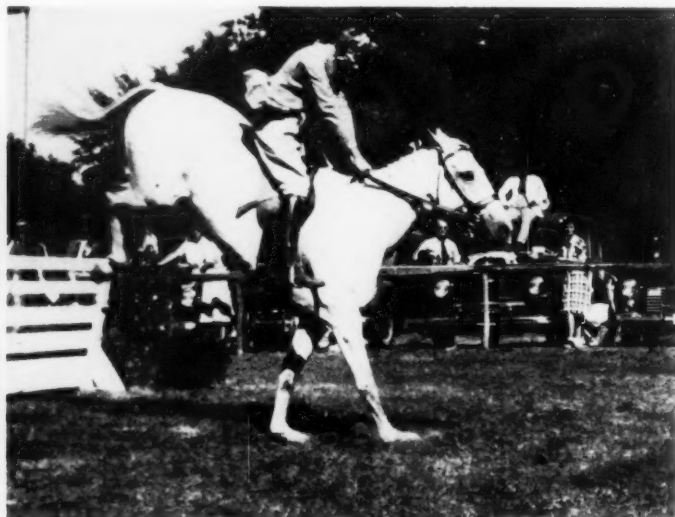

Libby Swift of Wheaton, Ill., on RANGE RATTLER a roan gelding 16.2 aged 6 takes a 2nd in the middle and heavy hunter class, a red ribbon in the pair of hunter event teamed with Mrs. Montgomery Orr of Wayne, Ill. on her SHAMROCK'S PRECAUTION, and a well earned 3rd in the class for hunters over the difficult outside course. ----Bert Dolan Photo

Sally Ordway of Long Beach Farm at Augusta, Mich. is aboard her big chestnut gelding ORMINT 16.3 aged 8. Miss Ordway participated in 6 run offs to get a well earned second in the knock down and out. This class started off with fences at 4 ft. and they were up over 5 feet before the winner was chosen. ----Bert Dolan Photo

Anne Ordway of Long Beach Farm, Augusta, Mich., on her grey gelding NUTHATCH 16.1 aged won first in the junior horsemanship class for youngsters under 18 and also a first in the junior hunter event. This good looking grey gelding and his pretty owner get a lot of attention from the crowd and always turn in fine performances. ----Bert Dolan Photo

Notes From Great Britain

His Majesty's Big Game Puts Quietus On Those Opposed To Racing In Wartime

BY J. FAIRFAX-BLAKEBOROUGH

I motored to Pontefract Races. It may be one of the last occasions for some time that I will be able to go by car to a race meeting, for petrol issue is being tightened up. Travel by train in these days is often far from pleasant but there was a noticeable falling off in the number of cars parked on the ancient common on which racing takes place at Pontefract and everything points to a reduction to vanishing point. As I passed Catterick racecourse they were loading hay off the track and at Pontefract one saw what appeared to be about fifty acres of healthy looking corn growing on the northern end of the course. It is the same at Beverley and on other courses on which "ploughing out" orders have had to be obeyed. The actual tracks have not been touched so all is well for a speedy resumption of sport when victory comes. I hear that part of historic Knavesmire, on which York races are held, is to be ploughed out. This would have been unthinkable in ordinary times.

As everywhere the ground unmistakably rattled at Pontefract and one trainer who had decided to send twelve horses to the meeting thought again after sleeping on it and sent four only. He and other trainers roped me in to a lively discussion about the suggestion that racing should take place in the cool of the evening when there would be less likelihood of interfering with working hours. The possibility of night racing has cropped up from time to time ever since greyhound tracks opened. Lord Lonsdale was one of the first to sponsor it but he found little support in the Jockey Club, and there was almost unanimous opposition from owners, trainers, jockeys, race officials and 'the regulars'. In view of the increasing difficulties of travel, and of hotels being full of military, night racing is less practical than ever it was.

Having talked out this subject the trainers turned to His Majesty's recent Newmarket winner Big Game (the Bahram—Myrobellia colt). Amongst those in the party were some of the best judges of bloodstock and racing in Great Britain. They were all agreed that Big Game was the best two-year-old of the year, and one authority said, "I have never seen a better two-year-old, or a better mover. He stands well over sixteen hands, looks more like a three-year-old, has a wonderful stride, and, in normal times would have put the King high up in the list of winning owners."

Then the conversation turned to the desirability of racing in war time and to the speech made at Newmarket Sales by Major Gerald Deane, who is a partner in the ancient firm of Tattersall's, and for long acted as racing manager for Lord Astor. The Major's remarks were designed to encourage bloodstock breeders and at the same time to combat and silence those who contend that the bloodstock industry is of so little value that oats eaten by brood mares, blood stallions and racehorses would be better employed feeding egg-laying poultry. Maj. Deane pointed out that because of the influence of our climate every country in the world would have to come back to Great Britain from time to time for bloodstock, no matter how many of the best stallions foreigners exported to their own countries. After the Sales His Majesty the King gave a further 'quietener' to the anti-racing fanatics by winning two races. It is long since the royal colours have been carried twice to victory on the same afternoon at Newmarket. One of the winners was the aforementioned Big Game which came in for a lot of comment.

Despite all the (often severe) discipline meted out to apprentices by head lads, and despite the self-imposed discipline many jockeys have to undergo to keep down their weight, the life is one of change, variety, travel and a certain amount of hero worship. It is therefore, not to be wondered at that most of the jockeys who are in uniform are not altogether enjoying the life, although they are making the best of it. Moreover, not a few of them recognise that when it is all over and they are free to again take up their career, they will be either too heavy, or back numbers. The jockey profession is the most heart-breaking of any for those who have not the luck to get quickly into the limelight. It is truly said that "good horses and opportunity make good jockeys". It is equally true that the public memory is short and that new stars are continually appearing to take the place of those which have begun to lose their brilliance.

Speaking of jockeys reminds me that some of us have noticed at recent meetings their unusual care over their saddles before mounting. In recent times there have been a number of accidents, delays at the post, and acrobatics amongst jockeys owing to saddles slipping, or girths, or stirrup-leathers breaking. We had another instance of this at Pontefract, where the famed Glen Almond had to be withdrawn at the post without coming under starter's orders. Recently the Jockey Club announced that in future jockeys would be held responsible that their saddles were put on properly; that they were safe and in good condition. In the case of apprentices trainers will be held responsible. In the old days many of the leading jockeys preferred to personally saddle the animals they were to ride, and this is still largely the case in National Hunt racing. Some of our best amateurs after being weighed, put on an overcoat and themselves saddle their mounts. Thus nothing is left to chance. In flat racing, however, not more than one or two out of every hundred horses that run are saddled by, under the supervision, or even in the presence of the jockey who is to ride. Indeed, comparatively few jockeys even take the trouble to feel the girths, test the "leathers" (often webbing, rather than leather), or to see their saddle is in order. Steve

Donoghue invariably took this precaution and I have seen Michael Beary, Pat Beasley, Harry Wragg and one or two more (especially those of the older brigade who have at some time "come it", as they call having a fall) do this. As for the rest, they take everything for granted, are given a leg up and are away down to the post without a glance at "the plate" upon which their safety depends. Most trainers, assisted by their head lads, take considerable pains in so placing number-cloth, weight-cloth, and saddle on horses, that the animals are in no discomfort and the jockey is placed in no danger. A few trainers leave this important work to some paddock 'hang-on', who has the reputation of being clever at the job, and who obtains free entrance to race meetings on the strength of "assisting trainers". In any case many horses have the knack of blowing themselves out when their girths are being tightened, so that when they "deflate" the girths are slack and the saddle likely to slip. Other horses are "round-backed", so have no natural place for a saddle to be firmly fixed. Again, some very light saddles remain so long in use that the webbing and tree (on which there is often a great strain) become weak and give way. The onus is now removed from the trainer and so it is that one has seen jockeys at recent meetings taking the trouble before mounting to see that their "tackle" is in order.

MAKING MOORE USE OF HUNTERS

War time conditions bring to mind constantly the question of what to do with horses normally used for pleasure, riding, hunting, showing. Should they all be turned out at once? This is rather foolish in that there is not a grain or hay shortage in the country, we are not dependent on shipments from abroad for feed even in the event of an actual shooting war. In fact, horses if anything, may prove a real boon rather than an encumbrance.

When one stops to figure what really will be needed to win wars nowadays, always the one word, oil, comes to mind and oil is the one commodity that does not make the horse go around. The civilian by using the horse is not burning the precious fuel supply of modern warfare. Obviously, even real horse lovers and owners are not expected to give up the car and turn back to the horse. There may come a time, as it has in England, when horses are making the trips to the village for the mail, the groceries and doing the major work on the farms; it has not come to this as yet in this country, but this may not be so far off and it does no harm to think of it.

After experimenting for some time with the tractability of thoroughbreds in harness, it has been proven rather satisfactorily to us that the normal hunters, whether thoroughbred or halfbred will do their bit in harness and do it with very little trouble. The only problem is to start them off slowly enough so that they become accustomed to the new game without first becoming frightened. Long reins first, with a man to lead them, then the wagon harness flopping around, and the next time, the cart with no one in it, but a man to encourage and lead on the ground beside them. Hunters thus broken to harness, cause no trouble and can be driven with real safety and with but three or four days' previous schooling. This system is not fool proof. It has worked, however, with each animal we have tried and each time has resulted in a lot of sport driving single, in pairs and in tandem. No matter how tractable horses become, they certainly should not be driven down main highways where trucks come screaming at them from all directions, but if owners have back ways to town, a lot of gasoline may be saved for war work, by using the hunter on all kinds of trips back and forth to say nothing of supplanting the Sunday motor drive for the old-fashioned trap, dog cart or runabout.

Hunting should certainly go on this year. It helps to keep spirits up, but there again, owners can make far more use of hunters and horses standing idle in stables than they now are doing. The best thing in the world for hunters to say nothing of their owners, is long slow hacks to meets. It fits both horse and rider and hunting becomes far more enjoyable on account of it. Hacking back and forth from a hunt, rather than vanning may take an hour more each way, but for the real horseman, it is an hour well spent. Some of the pleasantest recollections of any foxhunter is riding to a meet on his own horse, passing others doing the same thing, watching the whole pageant develop slowly before his eyes, the hounds, the horses and the hunters, converging from over the countryside. After it is all over, instead of calling a van, if you ride slowly homeward in the evening, reviewing the day's sport what a sense of relaxation you derive, and incidentally how much better your horse is in the morning after having had a chance to walk the fever out of his legs before being put in a stall.

A little more thought, a little more time spent in the doing of it, and horses can be a great asset the country over for those who realize that to save a bit of gasoline, making use of a little more horse may be helping more than staying home grousing about the pleasures the war has made impossible.

RHINEBECK SHOW

Olympia in London. She judged saddle horses, harness horses and ponies, more later about these ponies. There were three real old hunting judges to pass on the superb classes of hunters: Miss Emily Stevens from Peapack, N. J. who never misses a day in the whole season; John P. Bowditch, a host in himself and who really knows and loves horses, hounds and hunting; and Alfred G. Allen, M. F. H., from Fairfield.

Then there is the old inn—The Beekman Arms, said to be the oldest in the United States, where the ball is always held. The lower wall of the old part is several feet thick, built to keep the Indians off. It was built by John C. Traphagen's ancestors who founded Rhinebeck. John is a worthy first flighter in the Rombout Hunt, on his mare, Leonora by Leon, bred by Charles E. Perkins.

The pony classes were tremendous, 62 ponies in all and 9 different classes with 30 and more in a class. As Alfred Maclay said: "The Greatest Show on Earth". Mrs. Cox, judging them alone did a wonderful job for when I saw those ponies first come into the ring and go around in droves I felt sorry for her, but she soon had them divided up and began sorting them out in a most workmanlike way.

Alfred Maclay gave an exhibition with his wonderful hackney stallion "Killearn Magician", who Alfred says, will be good when he is 30 years old! The harness classes were all Alfred's and an exhibition too.

Being in Dutchess County, of course the hunter classes were the big thing and this year, along with the usual hunter and working hunter classes, there was a whole new lot of classes for young hunters from the model up to a championship. This is a great step in the right direction, for breeding and exhibiting of young horses is the sure way to keep an interest in horse shows. It was lucky for two very thin horses that the judges were real hunting men for there was that great horse Seceder who won that great race two years ago with Dr. Cannon up, riding at 220 pounds. He now belongs to 14 year old daughter Cynthia Cannon. He is really decidedly on the light side but it was most interesting to see how he gradually won the judges; as he got more ribbons, Cynthia got more confidence. I should say her riding at the end was 50 per cent better than in the first class.

The other thin horse was Tony Duke's Happy Creeke in the young hunter division. He is the kind Ernest Redmond would change in six months so no one would know him. However, these judges recognized him and he won his fair share of glory.

Battle Day, Fred Warburg's big horse is a hard one to beat, beautiful manners, excellent performance, and most consistent jumper, and moves well too for a big horse. He won the championship and also the President's Cup. This is the first time the President was not present to give his own cup away in many years.

Jitney Jingle won reserve with his stable mate Runancarry. They accounted for many a ribbon and were most consistent.

A class that appealed to me tremendously was the hunter stake. There were 15 good hunters in this class. The first 3 were all slashing heavyweights and made faultless performances. Ballela was 3rd. This horse interests me very much. For almost 2 years after Joe Hale sold him, he was considered a failure and indeed he was. His change came when he got into Cappy Smith's hands. He is now one of the most consistent horses in the game. He moves well, jumps very well and with Cappy up has perfect manners. He won the working hunter championship and I think was shown more than any other horse and went as well in the last class as he did in the first. By this time, a good many were tired. Cappy himself, from being a wild, reckless young rider, has developed into one of the best show riders today.

Another most consistent performer that I felt did not get all he earned was Weather Permitting.

On Thursday morning at 9 o'clock, there were very few at the ring. The sky was blue, no wind and champagne in the air, and there were 7 young model hunters. I was glad the judges were slow for I could have stood there for a long time watching those lovely young horses in such a beautiful setting.

The next class, hunter hacks—14 high class horses—was another to satisfy the most exclusive taste: perfect manners, beautifully ridden, a lovely class to watch, but it was a hard one to judge. Lord Britton got the blue; Runancarry and Jitney Jingle, Mrs. Sally Sexton's lovely pair of chestnuts, 2nd and 3rd, and Mrs. Allan Ryan's Chiropodist, 4th.

The jumping classes were well filled and as usual—since the forward seat and the forward seat saddle has come into general use—the performances were excellent. Little Chief only 14.1 and My Play Boy 15.0 hands, ridden by their owner whose legs have grown too long for the pony, just performed a acrobatic wonders. My hat is off to Russell Stewart who rides these ponies over 5'-0" with such precision and quiet force.

Of course, I should mention the donkey class which brought my childhood days back. Some were ridden, some led and some pushed. The judges decided the winners after carefully measuring the length of each donkey's ears with a ruler.

There were so many high class horses and such fine performances that those winning ribbons should be very proud of their horses.

produced a pack which showed very good sport for many seasons under his Mastership. I have had many good days with Mr. Bell in the field, both in his own country and the Cattistock, where he used to bring his hounds for a day's sport by invitation at the end of each season. Like all men who make a real success as amateur Huntsmen, he spent a great deal of his time with his hounds, and the consequence was that they trusted him implicitly in the field and would do anything for him. Being always well mounted, he was always close up to them, but he was a great believer in letting hounds hunt for themselves, and as a result, he had a pack which possessed great self-reliance.

So much for the amateurs in England. I am afraid my American experiences have not been so varied or so wide. The best man I ever hunted behind in America was the late Redmond Stewart, for many years Master of the Green Spring Valley. I think that no one who has had the good fortune to hunt with that well known Maryland pack in the days when Redmond Stewart carried the horn, will dispute my statement that he was the best Huntsman, professional or amateur, of American Hounds that the country has ever known. High praise indeed! But Redmond Stewart was deserving of it all and to the quality of being a superlative Huntsman, he was the best BE-LOVED Master in America. His brother-in-law, the late Frank Bonsal, who began his experience as an amateur Whipper-in under him, learned a great deal from his example, and when, in due course of time, he took on the Mastership of the Harford County, it stood him in good stead. Bonsal possessed that valuable attribute, a beautiful voice, which means so much to a tired hound at the end of a long day.

There have been other amateur Huntsmen in America who carried out their duties well; men like Grainger Galtner, Horace Hare, M. Roy Jackson, and Harry Smith, but none of them are, to my way of thinking in the class with the two I have just mentioned.

It might be interesting to carry this subject a little further and discuss the comparative merits of amateurs and professionals; but comparisons are odious, and I have a feeling that each—the amateur and the professional—have their place in the Sport of Kings. All men are supposed to be equal in the hunting field and, bar the Master, whose word is, and always must remain, inviolable law, can anything tend more to foster democracy, which is what we are all trying to do to-day.

SMITHTOWN SHOW

old Lord Highland to win the blue.

Brian Boru first established himself as a contender for the crown by winning the working hunter class over Camp, Nimrod, and Bourbon Lad. The judges also picked him in the middleweight hunter under saddle class, with Demas, Lord Highland and Charming Laddie behind him. He maintained his superiority in the Maraschino Challenge Cup class, but Camp passed him with more brilliancy of performance in the corinthian class, in which he went unplaced, while Bourbon Lad gained additional points by placing second.

Bourbon Lad staged a comeback to the ribbons all through the show. He took an easy third behind Miss Jacqueline Bouvier's Danseuse, and Peter Connick's Oakum, in the lightweight class under saddle, fourth in the working hunter class, and a smooth ride put him second to Camp in the lightweight hunter class.

Easily his best was offered in the ladies' hunter class, where he could not be denied the blue, and was put in a contending position for the championship. In this class, under a fine ride by Miss Peggy Budd, he defeated Brian Boru, Camp, and Francis Gibb's Garann.

Jumps on the outside course were well-spaced, with good footing, while the large turf oval offered a ring more than acceptable for a summer horse show. The only unfortunate occurrence was a mishap which befell Demas, as he took a spill on the outside course, injuring a tendon; fortunately Miss Hyland was unhurt.

Some of the top jumper competition was missing at the show, as many had been at Rhinebeck in the middle of the week, but six good classes, with a sweepstake were offered, which were watched and applauded with enthusiasm. The jumper stake was won by young Master Gibbs, who rode the great popular favorite, Little Squire, on which he is getting to feel and look at home. However, Little Squire proved more of a money horse than a consistent performer, and more points were accumulated by his rivals.

Miss Jacquelyn Galway won the second open jumping class, and lesser ribbons counted up to 13 points, which clinched the jumper championship for her Highland Fling. Grey Boy, a five-year-old owned by Eugene Brennan of Locust Valley placed a close reserve with 11 points.

In horsemanship there was more experienced competition than at most of the recent shows, and numerous pony and local classes gave resident children plenty of chances to compete for ribbons. The good hands class was won by George Chase of the Carroll School of horsemanship, while his older brother Henry took home the reserve horsemanship ribbon. Dick Van Winkle's Meadow Sensation received the Eastern Breeders' award, with his sister Dorothy's Timothy Proctor, four year old, placing fourth.

Miss Jacqueline Bouvier edged Francis Gibbs out for the Maclay. Another A. H. S. A. Medal was captured by Miss Lois Lisanti, who is now graduated into the 14-19 class of horsemanship. The championship was awarded to William Steinkraus. In both the championship and the open class, selected children were asked to perform on a test horse, a hunter, for individual performances, so that in each class they did figure eights, and exhibited both their saddle horse and hunter seats.

HARFORD CHAMPION

Patsy, with little Miss Loughran up, was runner-up for the pony jumping championship, scoring 13 points to the eighteen points amassed by Chit Chat. The latter, owned by H. O. Firor, after being measured out last year by the committee, returned this time with his hoofs shortened and shoes lightened and turned in a long series of splendid performances in both conformation and jumping classes.

Among the small ponies, it was a race between Mrs. W. Graham Boyce's tiny black Shetland, Tom Thumb, and Olney Pony Farm's bay and white Shetland stallion, Big Stuff, with the former finally taking the championship honors by a margin of 31 to 29 points. Mr. and Mrs. George P. Mahoney, of the Worthington Valley, showed their saddle mare, Clearview Maybelle, to great advantage, winning the $100 saddle horse stake, and with it the championship in that division.

Over ninety classes were run through in the three days of showing at the Harford Fair's annual horse show, with perfect weather blessing exhibitors—and judges—from start to finish. Excepting half a dozen or so unusual events, such as the family class and the pony races, all events were extremely well-filled. Colonel William Henderson, of Eatontown, N. J., judged the saddle classes, harness and equitation; while Christopher M. Greer, Jr., of Upperville, took on the hunters, jumpers and breeding classes for thoroughbred mares, foals and yearlings. Two hundred horses and ponies in all were stabled at the fair grounds, and the show was well-attended by Marylanders and Virginians both. Because of the committee's no-post-entries-taken rule, several exhibitors with fine quality hunters to show were turned down after the entry list had closed, but

Double Championship To Mile-Away Stable At Tazewell Show

Mr. and Mrs. W. Ozelle Moss' Mile-Away Stable's Dark Victory and Moon Fixer combined to score a double in championships at the recent Tazewell Horse Show, held near Tazewell, in the southern part of Virginia on Aug. 21-23. The handsome Dark Victory gelding, who hunts regularly with Moore County Hounds near Southern Pines, N. C., where the Mile-Away Stable establishment is located, swept through the show with ease, after taking a 4th in the model, back of Henkel and De Bow's Norwood, from Statesville, N. C., the eventual reserve hunter choice of the judges.

Aside from taking both championships in the hunter and jumper division, Mile-Away also took the reserve in the jumpers, with the consistent mare Lady Durham coming up with this award.

Mrs. Moss rode Dark Victory and Moon Fixer while Mr. Moss was up on Lady Durham. In the knock-down-and-out, which Moon Fixer won, the jumps went to 6'-0", with straight up and down poles, and the class was held at night. Moon Fixer cleared both jumps at this height, with what they say was, "a margin of 4 inches to spare." The little horse jumped in great form. He is but 15.2 hands and is 17 years old.

Mrs. Laurence E. Tierney presented the challenge trophy for the hunters. Dark Victory's win is his first leg on the trophy. Three wins are necessary for permanent possession.

NORTH CONWAY HAS ALL OUT SHOW & FAIR

Harvey D. Gibson Master Of Ceremonies With Harry T. Peters Judge

At the foot of Cranmore Mountain, near North Conway, New Hampshire's famous ski slope, the 4th annual Eastern Slope Region Horse Show, combined with a fair, was so expanded that it took 3 full days and nights, drawing spectators from throughout New England. Through August 21-22-23, there were exhibitions and contests of Meadow Brook Hounds, hunters, jumpers, log rolling, canoe-tilting, motorcycle racing up a Cranmore Mountain slalom course, balloon ascensions, parachute jumping, log chopping, beauty contests, farm exhibits, draft horses, pulling contests and breath taking acrobatic stunts including Capt. Sol Solomon, high diving champion, who plummeted, while doing back flips, 122'-0" from a ladder into a tank of water 9'-0" in diameter and 5'-0" deep. All this went on at North Conway week before last, when Harry T. Peters and Harvey D. Gibson, joint-Masters of Meadow Brook Hounds, also took part, the former as judge of the horse show and the latter as the master of ceremonies, telling the naive New Englanders the finer points of hunters and hounds over a loud speaking system.

The horse show, which has had 3 rather interesting renewals previous to the 1941 fixture, was actually lost in the kaleidoscopic labyrinth of the fair grounds, where one could quickly go from watching honest hunting hunters jumping 6'-0" or heavy draft teams weighing nearly 2 tons pulling twice their weight on a stone boat, to learning of New Hampshire soil-erosion projects, or how to get the best crop results from New England soil to hair raising rides on loop-the-loop machines or to hob-nobbing with a gentleman who makes his living with white mice. If you wanted, you could also act as anchor weight to hold the great hot-air balloon on the ground, until Miss Allen, of the flying Allens, whose grandfather in 1871 went aloft in balloons, could take her place and rise to 3,000 feet, higher than the White Mountains there, to parachute to earth in a cut-away fall. Oh there was much to see, even "Count" Danny Marzani was there with his Mint d'Or wonder horse, jumping through fire and over an automobile.

Most of the hunter laurels fell to Mr. and Mrs. Harvey D. Gibson and to Meadow Brook Hounds staff mounts, in that there were few other hunters. The Gibson and Meadow Brook horses numbered 10.

A very fine performing half-bred mare was Lady Be Good, owned by E. D. Hill, of Long Island, who plans to hunt her this year. He but recently acquired Lady Be Good, of unknown parentage and had Theodore Yaremo riding. Mr. Peters liked her sufficiently to put her up in the middle and heavyweight hunters, when Brian Boru was 2nd, the well known brown gelding of Mr. Gibson's.

Lady Be Good, with Yaremo riding bareback, became the standout jumper of the show, on the final day, winning both the high jumping contest and the broad jumping event. In the high jumping she went to an estimated 6'-2"—the measurement was made from the take-off hoof marks. Still it was an accomplishment of Yaremo's riding bareback over the 6'-0" upright barrier of bars and so it was for Mrs. Henry Sanford, of St. James, L. I., who rode Meadow Brook's Rifle over almost 6'-0" to win 2nd in the contest. Mr. Gibson's Hats Off, another hunter, was honest enough to try the almost 6'-0" jump, with Harold Plumb up, taking 3rd.

Lady Be Good won the broad jumping, with Yaremo still riding bareback and Mrs. Sanford was 2nd on Rifle.

Capt. Theodore Galiza rode his Bittersweet to several awards, notably the blue in the handy hunters. The 15-year-old mare was ably ridden by the colorful Captain.

Kent And Cecil Show Finds Pony Owners Riding For Ribbons

BY WOOGIE

Galena, Md., was the chosen place for the Kent and Cecil County Horse Show, held on Thursday, August 21st. There was a large response for this show's second birthday. In the morning there were breeding classes and ponies, the afternoon usual, hunters and jumpers. As I arrived I saw a large white Farm draft mare Kobinoor and her 9 day old foal, being walked to the show; the foal, as black as coal, was scampering along 'he road, but when the day was over the little thing didn't scamper so much, the day's activities had been extremely bewildering and tiring. Little did he realize that he had stolen the show and his master, L. C. Clark, was very proud of the blue and yellow ribbon won in the first two classes.

The Mickles' from Centerville arrived in their station wagon, with their pony in the back, luckily he is very small as his name, Shorty, indicates. Micky Mickle rode his pony into first place in ponies under 14.2. Micky's sisters won the majority of ribbons in the D. Sterrett Gitting class. Ann was first and Pat second; another ribbon went to Pat when she won the knock down and out, riding Highball.

In the pony jumping class Bashful's saddle and rider (Merlyn Fox) went sailing off between the first and second jumps, the girth having broken; this, soon remedied, Merlyn continued and placed second to Carter Middleton's King Cole. Bashful, Bambi and Screwball are all owned by Fletcher Williams. Mr. Williams had three generations of ponies at the show. Bambi, by Red Robin, out of Bashful, Bashful by Mr. Wm. DuPont's Miami Triad, out of Punks. Mr. Williams is experimenting with breeding Palomino horses; Continued on Page Nineteen

of Importance to Light Horse Owners

THE SCIENCE OF HORSE FEEDING MARCHES ON

TODAY the Purina nutritional staff releases PURINA LIGHT HORSE OMOLENE, a new feed made especially for light horses.

It puts the proper nutrition of horses on a higher plane than ever before — because it is designed to meet the most exacting needs of the finest horses.

See what has been added:

1. More Essential Minerals — the country's leading horse experts today agree that abundant minerals are needed to meet the shortage in many hay and grain rations, thus building up strong resistance to breakdowns.

2. More A and D Vitamins. These, too, are short in many rations fed to light horses. The added supply in new Light Horse Omolene brings horses a new "backlog" for better condition, sounder growth, and real vigor and "drive."

3. Even More Palatability. Helps keep horses "on feed" more than ever before. Horses really "go for" new Light Horse Omolene.

New Light Horse Omolene is a balanced ration — to be fed just as it comes from the bag — with hay. Feed it straight — and see the condition — the growth — the real staying power it helps put in horses.

Beagles

BY EDWARD M. WARD, JR.

Pony Cart And Bicycles May Help Beaglers To Meets With Gasless Days Ahead

With the prospect of gasless Sunday's staring us in the face we might do well to note what John Pawle says in his book, Hints on Beagling. "Up to the age of fifty, a master of beagles should be able to walk his hounds five or six miles to the meet, hunt them for four hours, and walk back with them in the evening without any undue fatigue. This is quite a moderate day's exercise." A pony cart would help in taking hounds to a distant fixture but the field would probably take to bicycles.

The questionnaires sent to masters of beagles and bassethounds, are coming back with very heartening news. Almost all the packs have more hounds in kennel than last year and there are at least four new establishments. The Sir Sister has been revived after being inactive for thirty years. When they were going strong they were really good. At the New England Beagle Club Trials in 1911 their master, Chetwood Smith had the pleasure of placing first, second, third and reserve in the all-day stake for dogs and bitches (15-inch), twenty-one starters, with Blue Maid, Blue Speck, Flash and Iseault, quite a record. Mrs. Edward Dane is joint-master with Mr. Smith.

The Christiana Beagles of Centerville, Delaware will be under the joint-mastership of Paul Wilson and Bayard Sharp. Mr. Wilson will hunt hounds this season as their professional huntsman is in service. They have twenty-three couples of under thirteen-inch hounds.

Another new pack has been established by Edward Hurd near Chertown, Maryland, and called the Reward Beagles. Mr. Hurd was the master of the Navesink, of New Jersey.

Mrs. James B. Whitall is master of the Brigham Hill Beagles of Grafton, Mass. Particulars have not been forthcoming but we understand that it is a nice small pack.

This season I want to visit as many packs as possible and write impressions of them, that is if my gasoline holds out. Meanwhile notes from secretaries and masters will be gladly included in this column.

MEXICO SHOW

lessly to win, while Hebert, owned by Joe Mackey was 2nd, and Hudia Rhodes' The Duke was 3rd.

The working hunter, or (the horse you'd rather ride to hounds), after various performances, some good, some bad, General Chamberlin tied Daddy Bill. There is quite a story behind Daddy Bill. Jimmy Scarborough bought Bill from John R. Shepley last May after he had used him for children's jumping classes all early Spring. Every afternoon you could see some child riding Bill around the ring and over a few 2'-0" fences, round and round they'd go, different children every day. It made no difference to Bill. Finally Maryville Horse Show and Bill had 5 tips for 5 children in the beginners class, and 5 times Bill entered the ring to go twice around a course of 4'-3" fences. Next came the Hunt Team and two of the Scarborough horses were ready, but a third was needed—Bill would have to do it and over 4'-0". Well Bill not only came through in the hunt team, but never laid a toe on a fence although he had never jumped 4'-0" before.

Daddy Bill is now 9-years-old and was 2nd in the hunter hack at Bridle Spur Hunt Horse Show and has been shown at several shows this summer, seldom being tied out of the money. Jimmy raced him one afternoon at a Fair and showed him that night with the new racing plates on his feet. And now in Mexico, Bill is, in three days, a flat race winner, (just to blow him out)—a working hunter winner, and just to top it all off Jimmy rode him in a 1½ mile steeplechase to see if he liked it. He not only liked it but he won it and if he would have run another 3 miles he might have been "just a touch tired."

Knockdown and out was won by Will Rogers, owned and ridden by Mr. Roy Craft of Kansas City. Another Kansas City horse, Joe Mackey's Hebert was 2nd, and Harriet Collins Byer's Peggy was 3rd.

Trails End Stables' good open jumper Feather Rock won the jumper stake which made him champion jumper of the show. Feather Rock was ably ridden by his trainer Chester Roberts and Hebert, owned by Joe Mackey of Kansas City was declared reserve.

This year's Mexico show was one of the best, due to the enthusiastic interest of Mr. Staley and his committee. Mexico has always been a saddle horse country and was the home of the famous Rex McDonald and now hats off to Mr. Staley who is trying with no little success to make it a hunting country also. Lets hope next year's show will draw even more horses as this show is a real test for a real hunter.

Ard Clu Outjumps All Competitors At Pike Show

BY EDWARD DICKINSON

Ard Clu, James S. Meisenzahl's son of Lough Foyle, putting on the only complete performance in the class, won the knock down and out at the Wyoming County Fair Horse Show at Pike, N. Y. on Aug. 20. His nearest rivals were Allen E. Dye's Miss Pumpkins by Northcliffe and Miss Eleanor Cox's Easter Lilly, a Canadian thoroughbred, who had to jump off for second and third, respectively, while five out of the eleven entries had to jump off for fourth which ended with a bit of white silk on the bridle of Warren J. Smallridge's Robin Adair.

Ard Clu won the single hunter event, too, with Miss Pumpkins taking the red and Dr. V. J. Levy's Vee Jay by Brumado having the yellow, which seemed the top of his ability as he had the yellow in open jumping and amateur jumping; in the open being topped by Dr. N. W. Kuch's Black Hawk and Miss Pumpkins and in the amateur by George E. Wemett's Rosalie by Long Tongue and Dr. N. W. Kuch's Guy Charles by the standard bred stallion, Great Guy.

The novice jumper event called for four in the jump off, with Guy Charles finally winning over Easter Lilly, Rosalie, and Vee Jay in that order and Harley Seamans' Miss Topper by Powerless and Robin Adair, above mentioned, (I was a bit surprised at the sire of Miss Topper and checking back I found that her sire is a son of Runnymede and Little Ruth and some six or seven years ago had a third in the stallion class at Avon behind Mrs. Michael Moukhanoff's Thunderbolt and the Jockey Club's Hurry Off.)

The horsemanship class was a win by a big edge for John B. Deavitt Jr., with second to Miss Shirley Gillhatt, third to Miss Virginia Smallridge, and fourth was LaVerne Fisher, who had a pretty bad time of it with leads.

While I know very well that the Judge, Hunters and Jumpers: Brig. General Harry D. Chamberlin, Ft. Riley, Kan.

1941 Rule Book of the American Horse Shows Association says that riders may post on either diagonal they please but must be able to distinguish them if the judge asks, I cannot help but comment on the fact that not a single rider in the class posted consistently on the best diagonal for the track. I know equally well that failure to observe the diagonals is combating the law of gravity that compels all things to tip the way they are turning, thereby making niceness in its sense of fineness or exactness impossible of attainment, while being down in the saddle when the front foot on the side from which you are turning is down under the horse gives worlds of help and comfort to both horse and rider.

FOXYANNE WINS

Most spectacular event for the crowd was the knock down and out class in which sixteen horses competed. It took six run-offs to decide the winner and the fences which started at 4 feet had risen to well over five feet before Col. P. T. Cheff of Holland up on Chicles Play won the blue.

Another super attraction was the test for hunters over the big, tricky, outside course. Spectators refer to this class as "the steeplechase" and with the big crowd rimming the outside course it certainly looked like one. Show hunters didn't do well in this event as they were put at obstacles that they rarely are asked to jump in the ring, while working hunters meet these jumps many times in a hunting season. The twelve jumps consisted of two easy brush, then a combination brush and timber one, that took a heavy toll with refusals. On up hill to a right angle snake fence, next a pole, then a downhill barn gate, the snake fence again and then a difficult double with a sharp drop into the road and a stiff jump up and out. Once past this series, the rider was rolling home with only a big, vicious looking bullfinch to negotiate. Winner of this class was Austin Brown, fourteen year old honorary whip of the Tryon Hounds. Austin turned in a grand performance on his little mare Foxyanne to top a big field of high class contestants. The award was popular and Austin got a big hand from the crowd when he stepped up to get the blue, $15 and a personal radio in a handsome pigskin case.

Another popular winner was Miss Peggy Kirchen of Holland on her Winnie the Pooh. Peggy is developing into an excellent rider and Winnie the Pooh fenced faultlessly in the lightweight hunter class to carry off top honors.

In the middle and heavyweight event, big, handsome Red Dust owned and ridden by Mrs. James Blackwood of Rochester Mich., got the call over a fine field. Mrs. Blackwood has a hunting box in Tryon N. C. and hunts regularly with the Tryon Hounds.

Sally and Anne Ordway came over from Augusta and Anne took home two blues with splendid riding on her grey Nuthatch to win the junior horsemanship and the junior hunter classes. Sally took second in the knockdown and out on Ormint with a string of fine performances in the series of run-offs in this event.

From Wheaton came Libby Swift and Louise Orr with Range Rattler and Shamrock's Precaution to take home an assortment of ribbons.

Among the distinguished guests were Mrs. Dwight Green, wife of the Governor of Illinois, and her two daughters; Miss Polly Mahler of Neenah; Mrs. Cudahy Ferneding and her petite, hard riding daughter Pat, from Milwaukee. The Fred S. Fords of Grosse Pointe; the Fred Bowes and their four children from Lake Forest, and many others. Mrs. A. D. Plamondon of Chicago had charge of the trophies. Roy Noble of St. Louis was ringmaster. W. Brock Fuller of Milwaukee judged the hunters and jumpers, and Mr. George G. MacDan of East Lansing judged the saddle classes. The proceeds of the show were for the benefit of British War Relief.

After the show guests and exhibitors hid themselves to the castle for a splendid buffet supper and later, dancing on the dunes dance floor on the shore of the lake.

EMPIRE STATE SHOW

our backs were turned as was the gate man's, and hundreds of cars slipped in and were deposited upon the outside course in lieu of ample parking space elsewhere.

During the 3 days, a lovely chestnut gelding, Ernest White's Oration II had worked his way to the top of the list for the hunter championship. This was settled by his flawless performance in the stake class with William McCullough up. He is in charge of the Lyndon Farm hunters. The reserve champion was Dwight Winkelman's Rock Alder, a heavyweight grey gelding from Syracuse. This proved to be an exact duplication of last year's hunter championship awards.

Oration II was imported by Stephen Clark as a 2-year-old. He is by Herman Duryea's Durbar II, a winner of the English Derby while his dam was a French stake winner. He is a fine moving lightweight and a brilliant jumper as well. In winning the ladies and the Onondaga amateur hunter classes with a stranger riding, he proved that his mouth and manners leave nothing to be desired. He is fit, looks as a hunter should and has carried his owner to hounds in Virginia and North Carolina.

Rock Alder is a different type of horse, up to a lot of weight and was imported from Ireland by Joe Hale several years ago. He was purchased and shown by E. V. Quinn's Clareda Farm quite successfully after which he was sold to A. H. Waterman of Greenwich, Conn. He was then known as Our Boy and was hunted and shown a bit. Two years ago Mr. Hale had the opportunity to get him back and it was then that he went to Dwight Winkelman. Since then he has established an amazing record for consistency, not only as the favorite hunter but in shows both here and in the south he has never failed to be in the ribbons in every class in which he has been shown. Mr. Winkelman won a hunter amateur to ride class and several 2nds, riding himself and Rock Alder was also placed 2nd in the ladies'. Although his grey dapples are fading and he'll soon be pure white he will probably hunt for several seasons more. Should he be retired from the show ring as Mr. Winkelman has threatened he is still a horse to be admired.

Dick Kerby showed the winner of the lightweight class which was the well known chestnut son of Sun Beau, Beau Soleil. This 5-year-old of Mr. and Mrs. H. Duane Clark of Syracuse had some very nice performances, particularly in the Saturday afternoon classes when he was going beautifully over the outside course. Had he been as consistent the day before or when the stake class was moved into the ring he would have been hard to beat.

William McCullough also showed Lyndon Farm's Topmast, a younger chestnut middleweight to victory in the novice, other than thoroughbred and several lesser ribbons. Limited Risk a large chestnut gelding belonging to Miss Allitha Carey won both the middle and heavyweight and the qualified and except for some very sticky performances might have been a threat to the championships. Miss Eleanor Pease's Jinglebob, a brown horse from California by Ultimidge was undisputedly the best hack, winning all of these classes.

The best horses in the hunter division were so named by Jack Prestage, of Watertown, Conn., who did a fine job judging these hunters alone.

The winner of the model class was another locally owned horse, Miss Patricia Dunn's Leaf Hanger. This chestnut gelding was perfectly suited to his 13-year-old owner and quite deservedly won the children's hunter class in the ring. He found the outside course not to his liking and his best chance appeared to be in the stake class when it was moved to the ring. By then, however, he had had enough, and accounted for a rail and third place. This seemed to be a disappointment to some of the local following who were expecting more of this small pair. Walter von Lambeck, the horsemanship judge awarded Miss Dunn the championship in his division.

The open jumper division was well filled with some exceptional jumpers and provided more excitement and interest to the fair minded public than any other part of the show. Frederick von Lambeck won for the third time the Saville jumper challenge trophy, with a new chestnut gelding Sports Parade. This horse was shown last year in hunter classes and this was his second show in open classes. Taking kindly to the change and with nice manners he was 3rd in the novice and improved a little to gain the white in the touch and out. His next ribbon was back to a 3rd in the triple bar in which his stable mate Sporting Mist was the winner.

For the last event of the day they had saved the skyscraper and it was here that Sports Parade proved that he is no longer a novice to be trifled with. He jumped a fence that measured 6'-3" and had been a problem to raise that high. He was then tied with Miss Eleanor Pease's Helium and they both failed to clear the 6'-6" fence. Sports Parade was finally named the winner after a coin was tossed. Helium also deserves a lot of credit for this effort which under John Mitchell's handling was much her best during the show.

This was his last class until the $200 stake which he won only after jumping off with Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Faugh's Judge. If this is a sample of the abilities of this thoroughbred son of Old Koenig—Homewood Jade, he had better be watched from now on. Dan Conway owned and rode his chestnut mare Burma to the reserve championship by virtue of her clever jumping and points collected on lesser ribbons.

Mrs. Schiffer's Kilkare Farm completely dominated the small saddle horse division. Valvictorian and Flashing American with Mrs. Schiffer and Arnold Fungor riding were champion and reserve and were judged by Mr. Harry Hess of Hohokus N. J.

CORNISH HILLS

the novice and green championship which he took with 30 points, and the Virginia 3-year-old tricolor. In placing Pappy in this sublime lime-light, judges put him in the class of Scotchwood and Spanish Spear, winners of this crown in 1939 and 1940.

Finally a show is only as good as its judges. Well known hunter showing people like Mr. Fletcher, Mrs. Hamilton, Alex. H. Calvert Mrs. Douglas Prime, and Mrs. Robert C. Winnill, all officials and directors of the Warrenton fixture, showed rare wisdom in calling together Messrs. Asheton, Humphrey and Wadsworth. Exhibitors and spectators alike considered the judging the best of this season.

Going back to Cornish Hills. This John P. Grier champion gave evidence of a prima donna temperament, going ribbonless in his opening outing, when thrice he refused in a working class. Mrs. Perry is a strong rider, urges her horses with strong driving knees and legs; there is no loose whacking and flapping when she commences to encourage. She finally waited until mid-morning of the 1st day to get Cornish Hills going in a hunter hack affair, in which he had to jump 2 fences 3'-6" which he did with magic ease and went away with his 1st blue. He then waited until 4:45 p. m. for the working hunters, amateurs to ride "the most agreeable mount to hounds", and like the whole schedule, this came off precisely on the minute. Cornish Hills did not start too willingly, but after reaching for the 2nd fence, he went magnificently for his 2nd blue, to complete his day.

Cornish Hills has furnished out considerably since the Perrys acquired him from Mrs. Ellsworth Augustus, following his tricolor win at the Chagrin Valley Show last September when he beat Holystone, and his indifferent performances at Piping Rock, where Holystone and Inky took command. He has been known to lose interest and it is to Mrs. Perry's great credit that she keeps him inspired. After winning the blue at Warrenton on Labor Day in the model, Cornish Hills, of 7-years, took a back seat in the lightweight hunters as the 3-year-old champion Pappy romped in with the blue and Cornish Hill's stablemate Magic Luck took 2nd.

Mrs. Perry and Cornish Hills, after winning the hunter hacks the 1st day, surprisingly enough did not place in hunters under saddle on Monday. Mrs. George Watts Hill's Balkonian, Inky's stablemate, who is a real model, going 2nd to Cornish Hills in the model, worked the best under saddle, with Rock Spring Farm's Society Lou besting Prosaic and Alas for the rest.

Due to A. H. S. A. rules Cornish Hills is still a green hunter, so he was contesting in the green $100 stake. As if embarrassed that he should be going over 3'-6" fences, contesting against his own juvenile stablemate Magic Luck, Cornish Hills stopped, thus being too green to win the green blue and his stablemate carried the 1st ribbon back to the tack room.

The qualified, the 1st big class of the 2nd day, saw Alas beat Capt. and Mrs. J. G. Minniece, Jr's Trail Bird, one of amazing manners and performance. Mrs. M. E. Whitney rode her own Bon Nait for 3rd, Springsbury Farm's Billy Do took 4th. The Bear, also from Mrs. Whitney's stable had gone brilliantly with Norman Haymaker, but went unplaced. Cornish Hills had quit, with 1 refusal and 2 hind ticks.

Then came the thoroughbred hunters. Miss Betty Couzens, possibly the best sport at the shows, you never hear a complaint, (someone said she doesn't yelp enough), was up on her Repulsion, a Repulse 9-year-old, to show the way to all those with registration papers from the Jockey Club. Alas hooked a rail and Cornish Hills, being hard ridden, got under several fences to fail to equal are his jumps. Interestingly enough, Balkonian, who customarily gets most ribbons under saddle and in hacks, took 2nd and Springsbury Farm's Highland Ace, fresh from his Bel Air championship took 3rd. Highland Ace, good looking 5-year-old son of Byrd went right on to win the ladies' hunters, beating that almost perfected performer Inky while Repulsion was 3rd.

After the recess, Cornish Hills refused again in the ladies', and Alas had dropped another rail, despite enjoying a cracking ride from Miss Frances Harrison, of the Radnor Hunt country. All through the delightful luncheon hour at the Francis D. Thomases', when Governor Price, William Kemper and Walter Chrysler Jr., among other celebrities were present, there had been an undercurrent that Cornish Hills was "through", the "1-to-5 shot was beaten". So he would have, had not Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Jr's Out The Way mare missed 5 points each in the ladies' and thoroughbred either of which would have eased her into a commanding point lead for the preliminary championship, but this was not Alas' day—the rails she knocked were costly, and so was her performance in the $300 hunter stake, when Cornish Hills rallied and won.

Back of Cornish Hills in the stake were Mrs. Hill's Inky 2nd and Balkonian 4th and Springsbury's Ginnico 3rd and Big Boy 5th. This was Ginnico's best win. He is a 5-year-old son of Gino—Sun Ayr who should be in training to try the Maryland Hunt Cup. He is this writer's preference of all the horses at Warrenton, whether for showing, point-to-point racing or first flight foxhunting. Actually he is not a far cry in conformation from Cornish Hills, but for being a full hand taller, 17.1

Miss Harrison fairly flew Alas around in a real corinthian contour flying circuit to take this event, the last of importance before the preliminary. Cornish Hills went unplaced, so it was that these two went into the preliminary but ½ a point apart. Big Boy took the red in the corinthian—he's a good foxhunting sort, perhaps he and Trail Bird were the best all around horses in the Warrenton Horse Show, for they always go convincingly whether in working, open or conformation divisions.

In the conformation preliminary, Cornish Hills with 11 points, Alas with 10 ½, Highland Ace with 7 and Repulsion with 7 ½ were worked through their walk, trot and canter and gallop, gaits, and they were pinned in this order. Highland Ace had taken Inky's place in the preliminary, when the latter had been withdrawn.

Mr. Fletcher purchased Pappy after he had been tried and started once as a 2-year-old. In his Crestone Farm stables Pappy has benefitted by training routine that is Mr. Fletcher's coupled with Alex Calvert's riding. Pappy was not brought out into qualification efforts for the 3-year-old championship of Virginia until Keswick, after the Warrenton entries had closed, thus enabling the youngster to be eligible for the main-den hunters in the Warrenton Show. Pappy's connections gambled with fate to the extent that they had to win qualification for Warrenton at either of Keswick or Orange shows—and they won. But this late qualifying round made Pappy eligible for the maiden hunters, which he won in his first class which counted 5 points towards the novice, and green championship.

It was all but a golden chestnut day in the conformation divisions. Pappy, Magic Luck, and Cornish Hills are all chestnuts. Pappy was the most consistent horse in the show. The gelding stands 16.2, is taller than Magic Luck, Mathematician, Springsbury's Looter (he won the middle and heavyweight green), Miss Couzens' Spanish Oak, Mrs. Hamilton's Pedestal and Mrs. Mary Jackson's (agent) Castle Owen, all good ones, who promise well for the competition to be offered in the older divisions next year. Pine Brook Farm's O'Doc by Polydor out of Marka, is another good one; was always well up, taking among other awards, 2nd in the $100 green stake, when Pappy refused and Magic Luck was the winner.

The skyscraper and knock-down-and-out high jumpers of Virginia, Maryland and the District of Columbia, all well known open horses of the current season, took back to Fort Myer's Smacko and Enterprise, a combination who won champion and reserve of this division. The manner in which these two went, ridden respectively by Capt. Charles B. McClelland and Capt. David Wagstaff, Jr., was enough to shame the owners and riders of the others.

Smacko and Enterprise went easily and smoothly over the difficult figure-eight and modified olympic courses. There was no lunging, holding them in restraint until the last stride, rather they all but went their course without changing a gait or being taken up. It seems that it would be good for the show ring sport if more stress was put on way of going in open jumping, perhaps a time limit, or a point system for each time a jumper breaks his gait, in order that less crazy horses would be brought out to be yanked about in the ring and let fly over fences. Of course there were exceptions to this at Warrenton. Mrs. Polly Stokes' Freckles, Capt. J. G. Minniece Jr's Trail Bird, Springsbury's Billy Do, Big Boy, Ginnico, Miss Jacqueline Warren's David, and Fenton M. Fadeley's Headrock, all have comparatively good manners in their ways of getting open jumping success.

Perhaps it has been the futile attempts on the high-jumping records that has made so many open horses of the Virginia circuit so wild-eyed this season. The American high-jumping records are some 7'-6" and more and these were made many years ago. The 6'-6 ½" "record" publicized by metropolitan papers this season and accredited to Lieut. Fred Hughes' Black Caddy is but a recent mark and so is the 6' -6" "ladies' record" set by Miss Margaret Cotter's Rocksie this summer. Both Rocksie and Black Caddy it seems to this observer, jumped better back two years ago when they weren't being forced to such limits. And presumably too, this goes for Hi-Ho Silver and Black Boy, owned by Miss Peggy Sampson, Bon Nait and First Night, of Mrs. Whitney's and Howard H. Butz' Hobo, the "octogenarian" of the open horses (credit line to Mrs. Mary Jackson), and others.

Fairfield Juniors Insure Success Of Wilton Show

BY WILTONIAN

The enthusiastic support given to the Pony Club by the junior riders of Fairfield County insured the success of the 3rd annual Wilton Pony Club Horse Show, held on Saturday, August 20-23 on the grounds of the Wilton Riding Club in Wilton, Conn. Approximately 50 young riders turned out, bringing some fine horses and supplying some stiff competition.

The competition caused the ribbons to be very evenly distributed in the classes for children's hunters, jumpers and hacks, all planned in an effort to provide classes that juniors really want, and all exhibitors showed their mounts to the utmost as the judges debated. Two of the most successful riders, Carol Jane Allen and Henry Chase, managed to collect four blues between them. Carol Jane, who is spending the summer in Westport, rode Mrs. Austin Jennings' 7-year-old bay gelding, Gay Blade, to win the class for children's hunters over the outside course. Henry Chase started off by winning children's hacks over 15 hands with his very consistent bay gelding, Windsor (Gay Blade took the white ribbon in this class).

In the afternoon Windsor went on to win the open hack class over more than 15 others. The 4th blue came in the pair class when Gay Blade and Windsor made a nicely turned out pair to win over Joan Dixon and Ruth Ray with their chestnut, Bruce and Imperial Burgundy.

One of the sweetest little mares shown in the two open classes, open hacks and hunter hacks, was the black 4-year-old, Miss Kitty Hawkins, belonging to Kathryn Thompson of Wilton, Conn. Kitty was a little worried by the strange crowd in her first class and got the red, but she went along like a regular veteran in the hunter hack class and deserved her first place.

Nine year old James Macdonald owns a really nice little pony in his 13.2 chestnut mare, Fad. Fad won the class for hacks, 15 hands and under, 2nd went to Henry Chase's brown mare, Nuggett, ridden by his youngest brother, Peter, while 3rd went to Kanyengeh Farm's Binjamin, ridden by Helen Kobbe. Another horse that did very well was the Harkaway Stables' Racklor, ridden throughout by Susan Powers. Racklor won the children's jumper class over Margaret van Boetzelaer's Gray Dawn after a number of jump offs, and then went on to place 3rd in hunter hacks and 4th in children's hunters.

Sue Powers was successful in her horsemanship classes as well as in showing Racklor. She put up a very smooth performance to win her age group for those over 10 and under 15 and she then placed 3rd in horsemanship jumping for those from 14 to 19. The greatest number of blues in the horsemanship division went to Elizabeth Miller, of West Redding, Conn., who was placed 1st in three classes. She won her 1st blue in the class for members of the Pony Club and then won again in bareback horsemanship. Her 3rd blue was won in the class for those from 15 to 19, with Carol Jane Allen placing 2nd and Henry Chase 3rd. Mimi de Baubigny placed 4th. Elizabeth Miller in horsemanship jumping 14 to 19. Mimi also placed 4th in bareback horsemanship and 4th in back jumping and 4th in horsemanship 15 to 19. A younger rider who cares most about jumping and who did very well was Roy Daly on his grand little jumping pony, Pocket Piece. Roy won the horsemanship jumping under 14 and then repeated in the bareback jumping class.

Two of the youngest riders in the show competed in the walk, trot class, 1st place went to Wickle Heller who rode a rather difficult pony to win over Johnny Whittlesey. Horsemanship 10 years of age and under went to Fanny Martin with Nancy Twining placing second. Nancy, who the judges thought showed great promise, went on to win a large novice class.

Elizabeth Hyland and Colonel D. Douglas Young did a grand job of judging and ran everything off so smoothly that everyone was most pleasantly surprised to see the show end ahead of schedule, without any of those far too common classes run off in semi-darkness.

Parson Outstanding At Long Green Show For Fat Patrick

BY WOOGIE

August, 23 was the tenth annual Long Green Horse Show and Carnival, given for the benefit of Long Green Volunteer Fire Company, and the big red engines were there to add color to the scene. Louis C. Leith of Middleburg, Va., and Humphrey S. Finney of Towson, Md., were there to judge the 13 classes.

Sir Warning by Purchase, out of Warning, a 5-year-old gelding, bought about a year ago by C. R. Mason from Victor Noyes, took three "thirds". Here is a horse to watch in future shows, Mr. Mason believes that he will be just as consistent, only next time they will be "firsts."

Today's D. Sterrett Gittings Horsemanship class went to Joe Johnson, Jerry Kilby second and Harriet Stokes third.

Parkantell, by Runantell out of Falkland Park, won the "first" in Handy Hunters, and third in The J. Fletcher H. Gorsuch Challenge Trophy for his master Thomas Ramseur Jr. Tommy's other horse Clifton's Nancy was first in green hunters and second in the performance class. Tommy had his cousin visiting, a boy who has never been introduced into the horse world (he had never been to a horse show before) so Tommy showed him the ideal way to return from a show with 4 ribbons and 2 trophies.

Post Meridian took two classes in this session, ladies' hunters with Smith up, and The Obedience with Shea up. Danny gave a show, we shall all remember for many a day, he jumped Post Meridian over every single jump, going the wrong way and the right way, cutting sharp right angle turns to take another, finally galloped right towards the spectators, who were hanging over the rail, but soon scrambled away as Danny called "Gang-way, here I come". Post Meridian sailed through the gap without hesitating even for a moment, then back in again at another point where he jumped between two cars, using them for wings. Danny dismounted with a flying leap, let the horse go, and ran out one way and the horse the other. A loud applause arose from the audience, and as this class was judged by the ringside applause, there was no doubt about who's bridle the "blue" was to be pinned on. Betty Bosley placed second, having ridden her Jake The Snake over 4, 3' 6" jumps without the aid of saddle or bridle only a halter and shank. Jake The Snake also won The J. Fletcher H. Gorsuch Challenge Trophy, which was won in '39 by War Krem, and in '40 by Bold Chaser.

But none of the horses won as many points as the faithful Parson. First in pair jumping with Penny Jamison's Zombie guided by Danny Shea Jr. (That was really pair jumping, it was a nice performance.) Parson was second in novelty jumping, handy hunters, and working hunters; giving him 14 points in all, it looks like he has a good chance for champion of the year.

The Wythmore Hounds were shown; 6 couples all packed close to huntsman, Bart Mueller, on Star Op. The Master, H. Courtenay Jenifer Jr., was mounted on Traverser, and Jean Bowman Pentecost, acted as Whip up on her Shillelagh, 5-year-old gelding recently bought from Mr. C. E. Tuttle, who imported the horse a year ago. He was then named Woodbine. A coop was jumped going out of the ring, and as the hounds and horses galloped off to the sound of "Gone Away" (those three shorts and a long; such music to hear.) The scene made us all tingle for hunting to start, which won't be long now. Labor Day to be exact.

Letters to the Editor

Quail Fox Relation

August 5, 1941

The Chronicle
Middleburg, Va.
Gentlemen:

I read with interest Mr. Tilson's letter to Mr. Clark as well as Mr. Stevens' reply requesting information on the Quail-Fox relation. Having managed a game preserve of 11,000 acres in South Carolina for the past fifteen (15) years, I have had the opportunity of observing the fox and its relation to the quail. I have examined many foxes' stomachs at different seasons of the year. In the spring and summer while the quail are more or less helpless, their eggs and young quail are always found as well as parts of rabbits, rats and meadow larks. During the fall and winter we find that foxes are feeding mostly on rodents, however at all times of the year we find leg bands from the quail we have raised.

In view of my past experience I do not think foxes would be of benefit on a game preserve as they are most destructive to wild turkeys while they are young. Mr. Stevens mentioned while walking over a 4,000 acre tract he flushed two (2) coveys of quail and saw many fox tracks. If no fox tracks had been seen, I am sure Mr. Stevens would have flushed many more coveys of quail.

The only fox which should be allowed on a game preserve is a dead one.

I always enjoy reading The Chronicle
Sincerely,

Chas. G. Turner

Poling Problem

August 4, 1941.
Bermuda.

Gentlemen:

Thought that letter a couple of weeks ago on the wining and dining of judges awfully good, as did some of my friends in my home country.

Am very interested in the "poleing" situation. What can you do about it? Of course most men call it sentimentality in women, but I think the way some people pole horses is the pay-off.

It burns me up the way hunter-jumper people run down the saddle horse crowd for cruelty, when you can go to any show and see the jumper boys schooling horses and whacking them on the shins with poles with big nails in them—the horses dripping with blood.

Why doesn't The Chronicle investigate.

Very sincerely,

N. G. H.

Inform Farmers

August 2, 1941.
"The Shadows",
Orange, Va.

Gentlemen:

I have read with interest the articles, concerning foxes and quail in the issues of The Chronicle of July 25 and August 1. I think if these articles could be read by more farmers in more communities, some of the feeling about foxes destroying birds would be lessened. Please send me 3 copies of each issue, as I want to give the articles some publicity in Orange and adjoining Counties. Thanking you.

Very truly yours,

Manley W. Carter
M. F. H. Carter Hounds.

More Tolerance

August 4, 1941

42nd S. 8th St.,
Allentown, Penna.

The Chronicle
Middleburg, Va.
Dear Sirs:

During six weeks of travel through Canada and New England, I surely missed The Chronicle, and haven't yet caught up with reading the back issues. I did notice the mention of Christopher Greer, Jr., buying Spinach—what a splendid thing to do, and if only more people had that much sentiment or gratitude for their horses. I never could understand how anyone could sell an aged horse and more especially one with a brilliant past. By the way, what has become of the Tail Waggers Club?

Another topic that has interested me, the comments about saddle horses. I agree that The Chronicle is much better as is, devoted to hunting and the thoroughbred and shouldn't add saddle or other breeds as there are magazines for their devotees. However, why must horsemen be so narrowminded, love one breed to the absolute exclusion of all others? If I lived in the country and could afford to indulge such whims, I'd like to have some hackneys, a good standard bred, thoroughbred and so on because each is different and all have admirable qualities. Because saddle horses have the misfortune to be ridden dreadfully, overshod and with set tails, isn't their fault. As for the social aspects of the saddle horse game, they are no worse than others. I know people who have hunted for years and who do well to name one hound! Not to even mention owners of "qualified" hunters in shows. This isn't an argument, really, so I had better stop.

Sincerely,
Miriam R. Le Vin

Beagle News

"Woodlands"
Bayville, Long Island, N. Y.
The Chronicle,
Middleburg, Va.
Gentlemen:

Just a little note to you to tell you how much I appreciate the articles on "Beagles" written by Mr. Edward Ward, Jr., and the sketch done by Mrs. Ward. I hunt with the Meadow Brook Foxhounds and also with the Buckram Beagles and it is so interesting and educational to read such excellent articles on beagles by Mr. Ward.

Thanking you for your grand paper, sincerely,

Jane Patterson.

KENT AND CECIL SHOW

Bashful has been bred to Harley, a California Palomino.

The show ended with a musical chair class, I should say baskets, as they were used instead of chairs. The riders rode around the ring and in and out of the baskets, when the music stopped they dismounted and sat on a basket. After much excitement, Lester Smith won the class.

Humphrey S. Finney, Henry Dentry, and Col. E. H. deSaussure were the judges.

Bath Puppies

W. Burling Cocks, who is the honorary huntsman of Bath County Hounds, of which Mrs. Fay Ingalls is Master, has 22 cracking young puppies, all lemon and white but one, for the 1942 entry. They have made a great effort to breed to color up there, so that hounds may be more visible in the dense country. One litter, out of Orange County Jessica, Mrs. Cocks has suggested be named Jim, Jam, Jump and Jive. Burley is practicing this tune on his horn.

Archer's Great Grand Son

Willie Woods, 17-year-old jockey now riding at Washington Jockey Club's track near Seattle, Wash., is a great-grand-son of the great Fred Archer, national hero of England for more than a generation, rider of 5 Epsom Derby winners, including Bend Or, Iroquois, Melton and Ormonde. Red faced and freckled, Willie Woods is under contract to Newellhurst Farm, owned by George Newell, and has booted 2 winners. Willie's father Albert Woods, born in England, rode 'chasers there and in Canada. Willie's father's mother's father was Fred Archer.

Cox—Turner

Daniel T. Cox and Elizabeth Randolph Turner were married last Thursday, Aug. 28, in the Grace Episcopal Church, The Plains, Va. They all but met in the Orange County hunting fields and both have had a life long love for horses and hounds. While Dan was schooling, winning horse judging awards at the International Livestock Exposition, where others of his Maryland college mates were contesting, Elizabeth was busy with raising a daughter of Milkman. Following a honeymoon up the east coast, when they intend to visit as many thoroughbred nurseries as it is possible, they will return to a residence they've taken in Clarke County, adjoining Montana Hall, where Dan is engaged as manager. At Abram S. Hewitt's Montana Hall stand the great Pilate and Bel-fonds.

Gibb—Jenkins

Mrs. Betty Willetts Jenkins and Robert P. Gibb, she of the Warrenton Hunt country (Va.) and he of the Essex Hunt (N. J.) were married last Wednesday, Aug. 27, in Islip, Long Island. Due to obtaining a license in Suffolk County, East Hampton, plans for a Central Presbyterian Church wedding, in New York City, had to be cancelled. The bride and groom chartered a plane to fly to Islip with the Earl S. Potters for the ceremony. Roger D. Mellick, best man, was left at the church to tell arriving wedding guests, and then later they all joined together, at the Paul Abbotts' Park Ave. home for the reception. The groom, better known as "Babe", is a well-known point-to-point rider. Both are keen foxhunting enthusiasts.

Hapblematic Sold

Ward Wickwire, of Buffalo, N. Y., purchased Hapblematic, the nicely conformed 5-year-old son of Hapazard—Emblematic, raised, made and shown by Alexander Rives, proprietor of Edgewood Farm, Cobham, Va. Mr. Wickwire bought Hapblematic at the conclusion of the Bath County Hot Springs, Va. show.

Victory Of Invader In Saratoga 'Chase Concludes Meeting

There were jumping races at 3 tracks in the United States and 1 in Canada during the past week. Saratoga concluded its meeting with the running of the Saratoga Steeplechase Handicap, about 2 1-2 miles with a purse of $3,500. With many owners anticipating the fall meetings, with many rich stakes carded for 'chasers, a number had shipped out of the Spa., and others were prepping their horses in down-State New York, for Aqueduct and Belmont. Consequently but 3 horses went postward for the finale of the 'chasing stakes at Saratoga and Mrs. F. Ambrose Clark's Invader turned up the winner, beating Stephen Clark Jr.'s Fay Cottage, when E. B. Schley's Chaloner went down at the 14th.

Saratoga's Thursday, Aug. 28th steeplechase was The Barometer. Again but 2 finished. Sanford Stud Farms' L'Odeon set a blistering pace, went the whole trip on top and won with speed in reserve by 20 lengths. With J. Barry riding, L'Odeon gave 10 lbs. to Mrs. Clark's Sir Wick, 131. Mrs. Esther du Pont Weir had hard luck with Himmell, who was moving up fast when he fell at the 13th. Pico Blanco, the Hy-Du Stable entry, this trip with Jockey W. Leonard up, was also in a contending spot, some half a dozen lengths away from the leader at the 10th on the backside, where he fell.

Thursday, August 28

Barometer Steeplechase Handicap, 2 1/2 mi., 4 & up. Purse, $3,500 added; net value to winner, $3,250; 2nd, $500. Winner: Mrs. F. A. Clark's ch. g. (5) by Chance Flyer—Dormy, by Pennant. Trainer: D. Byers. Time: 5:09. 1. Invader, 137, F. Bellhouse. 2. Fay Cottage, 137, C. Brooks. Three started; also ran: E. B. Schley's Chaloner, 139, J. Penrod (14); won easily by 1 1/2; 19 jumps.

Friday, Aug. 29

Saratoga Steeplechase Handicap, 2 1/2 mi., 4 & up. Purse, $3,500 added; net value to winner, $3,250; 2nd, $500. Winner: Mrs. F. A. Clark's ch. g. (5) by Chance Flyer—Dormy, by Pennant. Trainer: D. Byers. Time: 5:09. 1. Invader, 137, F. Bellhouse. 2. Fay Cottage, 137, C. Brooks. Three started; also ran: E. B. Schley's Chaloner, 139, J. Penrod (14); won easily by 1 1/2; 19 jumps.

Aqueduct 'Chasing

Aqueduct opened on Monday, Sept. 1, with The Bull's Eye, 1 1-2 miles over hurdles bringing out 4 starters. It looked like an easy thing for Mr. George H. Bostwick on his Cottessmore, champion steeplechaser of 1940, yet it seemed obvious that the great stakes winner, big and round from his long idleness, was in need of a race. The class and 19 lbs., weight advantage that was Montpelier's Jacket, 130, enabled the filly to win easily by 8 lengths. I Bieber's Different II, 145, with G. Walker up, took the show, when Mrs. Van Lear Black's Saxon Princess, 156 1-2, fell and was remounted. Jockey Clement rode Jacket, a Blenheim II daughter, who was clocked in 2:46.

The new Aqueduct steeplechase course was used for the first time on Tuesday, Sept. 2. Mr. Bostwick's West Haddon, 151, returned the winner for the about 2 miles in 3:53, under Jockey Slate's usual fine riding. Six went postward, with the winner, a Neddie gelding, taking the contest by 2 lengths as S. Bryce Wing's Balk, 14, T. Roby up took the place and Harold Talbott's Big Rebel, 147, R. Hayhurst up, the show. Mrs. Weir's Himmell tired. R. V. N. Gambrell's Parma was getting a prep for the National Cup at Fair Hills this week end in Maryland. He was never a contender. Parma may be recalled as but having the National Cup in the bag last year, when his rider mistook the course in the finish stretch. West Haddon's effort netted Mr. Bostwick $1,000 as was Jacket's win worth $1,000 to Montpelier.

Monday, Sept. 1

Bull's Eye, 147, 1 1/2 mi. over hurdles, 3 & up, allow. Purse, $1,500; net value to winner, $1,000; 2nd, $275; 3rd, $175; 4th, $50. Winner: Montpelier's ch. f. (3) by Blenheim II—Little Muff, by Sardapale. Trainer: W. G. Jones. Time: 2:46 (track record). 1. Jacket, 130, H. W. Clements. 2. Cottessmore, 149, Mr. G. H. Bostwick. 3. Different II, 145, G. Walker. Four started; also ran: Mrs. V. L. Black's Saxon Princess, 156 1/2, N. Brown; won easily by 8; place driving by 4; show same as 4th fell and was remounted; 9 hurdles.

Tuesday, Sept. 2

Sea Skipper Steeplechase, 2 mi., 3 & up, allow. Purse, $1,500; net value to winner, $1,000; 2nd, $275; 3rd, $175; 4th, $50. Winner: G. H. Bostwick's blk. g. (5) by Neddie—Sun Palatine, by Sun Briar. Trainer: Owner. Time: 3:53 (track record). 1. West Haddon, 151, F. Slate. 2. Balk, 141, T. Roby. 3. Big Rebel, 147, R. Hayhurst. Six started; also ran: Mrs. E. duPont Weir's Himmell, 151, J. Magee; J. Bosley, Jr.'s He Goes, 144, N. Brown; R. V. N. Gambrell's Parma, 139, L. Smith; won driving by 2; place driving by 2; show same by 5; 13 jumps.

Timonium 'Chasing

John Bosley Jr.'s Flying Falcon, 144, started the Timonium, Md., meeting's steeplechasing off properly in returning to the winner's circle with Jockey N. Brooks on Monday, Labor Day. There were 7 runners, and the newly brushed up course brought the veteran War Port and Baffler down at the 15th and 11th fences respectively. M. J. Daly's Rouge Catalan also fell, at the 8th. Irving Beavers' Anchors Down, 149, had top weight, finishing 3rd back of Tam O'Shanter, 142.

Monday, Sept. 1

4 & up steeplechase, 2 mi., cl. Purse, $600; net value to winner, $400; 2nd, $100; 3rd, $50; 4th, $25. Winner: John Bosley, Jr.'s b. g. (6) by Flying Ebony—Sun Flight, by Sun Briar. Trainer: John Bosley, III. Time: 4:07. 1. Flying Falcon, 144, N. Brooks. 2. Tam O'Shanter, 142, C. J. Coleman. 3. Anchors Down, 149, H. Lacey. Seven started; also ran: C. Spring's Le Pas-sadou, 137, W. Poland; fell; G. Cassalier's War Port, 134, H. W. Inez (15); J. H. C. Forbes' Baffler, 142, J. Brooks (11); M. J. Daly's Rouge Catalan, 138, R. Taylor (8); won easily by 5; place driving by 50; show same by 4; 16 jumps.

Mount Royal Hurdles

Up in Canada at the Mount Royal track, near Montreal, 15 went postward in the two events over hurdles carded Wednesday, Aug. 27 and Saturday, Aug. 30. Jimmie Kirk, 130, turned the 2 miles in 3:45 on Wednesday. J. M. Monaghan's Fair Gals color bearer bested the field of 8 handily. Chinese Red, 152, J. McNamara up, went the 2 miles in 3:44 4-5 on Saturday to win.

Wednesday, August 27

3 & up steeplechase, 2 miles (hurdles), cl. Purse, $400; net value to winner, $300. Winner: J. M. Monaghan's ch. g. (7) by Fair Gals—Shining Gold, by Golden Maxim. Time: 3:44. 1. Jimmie Kirk, 130, C. Cotton. 2. Rural Shower, 140, E. Fair. 3. Indiana Flyer, 133, L. Beckett. Eight started; also ran: Dr. Jilison; No Room; Voliris; Murier; Monocle. 15 hurdles.

Saturday, Aug. 30

3 & up steeplechase, 2 mi. over hurdles, cl. Purse, $400; net value to winner, $300. Winner: E. Benefiel's b. g. (6) by Kai-Sang—Wattin, by Sweep. Time: 3:48 4-5. 1. Chinese Red, 152, J. McNamara. 2. Jimmie Kirk, 130, C. Cotton. 3. Indiana Flyer, 143, D. Brown. Seven started; also ran: Irish Tom; Troublemaker; Fairminded; Rural Shower.

FOR SALE—Irish Wolf Hounds & Bitches—18 months old, 1 Bitch 2 1/2 years old, Prices—$100 to $200. Whippoorwill Kennels Mrs. Amory L. Haskell P. O. Box 588 Red Bank, New Jersey. 8-20-41 c.

FOR SALE—"Mischief". The 3 in 1 horse. A 5 year old, 16 hand, chestnut mare, by McDonough out of a good one. A first flight or hang-over hunter with 3 seasons' experience. A winner in the show ring and at hunter trials. Might have won the Warrenton Point to Point if I hadn't put her in a mud hole. Goes in a snaffle; used to a side-saddle; guaranteed sound. Your $1,000 will buy more horse but not as good a hunter, show and racing stable and you'll only have one to feed. See and try her at Francis Greene's, Warrenton, Va. Or communicate E. G. Prime, 30 Rockefeller Plaza, New York City. 11 c.
